Harvester Settlement

CHICAGO (AP) — The United Auto Workers announced Friday a tentative agreement has been reached on a new contract with the strike-bound International Harvester Co.

A union spokesman said the agreement would be presented to the 200-member UAW-International Harvester council Saturday for a vote on whether to accept or reject the offer.

More than 40,000 UAW members struck Harvester installations in 10 states Jan. 14 in a dispute over wages and other issues.

A union spokesman said the new agreement generally follows UAW agreements with General Motors, Ford and Caterpillar Tractor Co. The contract reportedly contains a new precedent-setting economic benefit.

Duane "Pat" Greathouse, UAW vice president and chief negotiator for the union, set a news conference for 1 p.m. Saturday to announce results of the council's vote on the agreement.

Details of the agreement were not announced immediately. Harvester plants involved in the strike are in Illinois, Indiana, Tennessee, Wisconsin, Kentucky, Ohio, California, Georgia, Texas and Minnesota.

The contract between the UAW and Harvester, one of the major manufacturers of farm equipment and heavy road machinery, expired Sept. 30, 1970, but was extended by agreement while negotiations continued.

The UAW later notified the company it was terminating the agreement, effective Jan. 14 unless an agreement was arrived at, and the strike followed.

The union—early in negotiations—demanded wage increases totaling nearly 30 percent over the next three years, as well as expanded fringe benefits. A principal issue was the union's demand for retirement after 30 years, regardless of age, on a $500 monthly pension.

Soon after the talks began, Harvester offered wage increases ranging from 74 cents to $1.20 an hour over the life of a three year contract. The union rejected it.

Under the old contract, production workers employed by Harvester were paid an average of $4.12 an hour.

EPA Functions

NEW YORK (AP) — William D. Ruckelshaus, chief of President Nixon's new Environmental Protection agency, said Friday he will take the "advocate's role for the environment."

After two days of hearing about pollution problems in New York and New Jersey from government and conservation leaders and citizens groups, Ruckelshaus told newsmen:

"We'll be going to visit 10 regions to find out just what the problems are in each region" in order to develop an over-all system to "stop the trend toward environmental degradation."

The EPA, which was created last Dec. 2, is mandated to establish and enforce antipollution standards. It is also empowered to administer financial grants and technical aid, conduct research and help develop a national environmental policy.

The new $1.4 billion agency, which pulls together 5,800 employees from the departments of Interior, Agriculture, Health Education and Welfare and two federal agencies, will deal with pollution in water, air, solid waste, pesticides and radiation.

South Africa Arms

SINGAPORE (AP) — The nine-day Commonwealth summit ended Friday with a pledge by the 31 partners to withhold from governments any assistance which "directly contributes to race prejudice. But it left Britain free to sell arms to South Africa, if it chooses.

The declaration was watered down after Britain balked at approving a tougher version submitted by President Kenneth Kaunda of Zambia. In its final form it left it up to each Commonwealth member to decide whether its aid would bolster any system of racial discrimination.

This was not what some of the more militant black Africans had wanted, but they seemed satisfied that a breakup of the century-old Commonwealth system had been averted.

"Nothing has been sold out here," said Kaunda. "Nobody is victorious. Nobody is vanquished. This is the beginning of a long fight."

British Prime Minister Edward Heath refused to give ground on the arms sale issue, insisting that South Africa needs more naval weapons to help counter a growing Soviet threat in the Indian Ocean.

He opposed the earlier draft of the document presented by Kaunda which said that no assistance should be granted which could "consolidate or strengthen" racial discrimination practiced by any country.

Heath was reported nettled by drumfire criticism of Britain during the conference and at one point wondered aloud why some member states wanted to continue the Commonwealth.

British Mail Strike

LONDON (AP) — Britain's post offices, strike bound for three days in a nationwide pay dispute, adopted emergency measures Friday to make sure old people get their weekly state pensions.

A Post Office spokesman said a fleet of armored trucks was pressed into action to rush cash to postal substations to pay pensioners as well as the family allowances of women with more than two children.

The substations—usually a counter in a local store—are not involved in the strike called by the Union of Postal Workers, but the substations quickly ran out of cash when thousands found the major post offices shut by the strike.

Hundreds of strikers voluntarily returned to their jobs for a four-hour period to pay pensions and family allowances but the Post Office said observance was spotty in a union promise to maintain this emergency service.

In some districts, workers refused to honor the pledge because they said postal authorities were employing strike-breakers.

The Post Office spokesman, meanwhile, said some striking postmen were trickling back to work. About 8,000 telephone operators, most of them members of a rival union, and about 3,500 postmen were reported back at work Friday. The Post Office has 230,000 employees.

Seeks Cooperation Of Congress

Nixon Proposes Revisions

WASHINGTON (AP) — Calling for a "new American revolution," President Nixon asked Congress Friday night to guarantee medical care for the poor and to share a startling $16 billion a year in federal revenues with state and local governments.

The big surprise in Nixon's State of the Union address was the scope of his vastly expanded revenue-sharing proposal. However, there was one catch. Of the $16-billion total, $10 billion would be diverted from existing and restricted federal grant program while $6 billion would represent new money.

In a 4,500-word prepared address to a joint Senate-House session and to the nation by radio-television broadcast, Nixon also recommended that the present 12 Cabinet departments be cut to eight in the name of efficiency and economy.

These were the three major elements in a six-goal blueprint Nixon laid down for the new 92nd Congress. Long controversy and debate over his ideas seemed a certainty.

As for the three other goals, Nixon called for prompt enactment of his long-stalled welfare reform system and other side-tracked administration bills; promised to stimulate the economy through deficit spending; said he later will propose "a strong new set of initiatives to clean up our air and water, to combat noise and to preserve and restore our surroundings."

The chief executive gave no details on his forthcoming national health care package but said an aim will be to "insure that no American family will be prevented from obtaining basic medical care by inability to pay."

However, administration sources have said the package will include a government-subsidized "family insurance plan," using private carriers to replace Medicaid; catastrophe insurance, providing government coverage of the costs of a major illness not met by private plans; and incentives in all government health programs to stimulate formation of prepaid, group practice arrangements known as "health maintenance organizations."

Nixon said he would ask also for more aid to medical schools and "to greatly increase the number of doctors and other health personnel." And he said he will seek an extra $100 million "to launch an intensive campaign to find a cure for cancer."

Picturing his revenue-sharing concept as the answer to a financial crisis confronting states and cities, Nixon said that "most are caught between the prospect of bankruptcy on the one hand and adding to an already crushing tax burden on the other."

He went on: "So let us put the money where the needs are. And let us put the power to spend it where the people are."

Nixon described his revenue-sharing plan as "historic in scope and bold in concept."

Army Dismisses Charges Against 4

FT. McPHERSON, Ga. (AP) — The Army "in the best interests of justice" dropped charges Friday against the four remaining enlisted men accused of murdering My Lai villagers during an infantry assault.

The action leaves three officers still charged with murder — Capt. Ernest Medina, Lt. William L. Calley, Jr., and Capt. Eugene J. Kotouc.

Announcement of the action was made by Lt. Gen. Albert Connor, court-martial convening authority for the cases at 3rd Army headquarters.

His statement said court-martial proceedings would be halted against these soldiers:

—Sgt. Essequiel Torres of Brownsville, Tex., charged with murder, assault and aggravated assault.

—Spec. 4 Robert T'Souvas of San Jose, Calif., charged with murder.

—Pvt. Max D. Hutson of Williamsport, Ind., charged with murder.

liamsport, Ind., charged with murder.

—Pvt. Gerald A. Smith of Chicago, charged with murder and indecent assault.

Calley, 27, of Miami, Fla., is currently undergoing psychiatric testing as part of his court-martial at Ft. Benning, Ga. He is accused of killing 102 My Lai villagers during the attack on the village March 16, 1968.

Kotouc, of Humboldt, Neb., who was an intelligence officer at the time of the operation, is charged with murdering and maiming in the interrogation of prisoners after the raid.

Medina, a former enlisted man who graduated from Officer Candidate School, is charged with murder and overall responsibility for any civilian deaths that occurred during the action.

The Army has not announced whether the two captains will be court-martialed.

Golda Meir Warns Against Threats

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Premier Golda Meir warned Friday that Israel will not accept any political solution of the Middle East deadlock hampered out under threats by Egypt to renew fighting after the Feb. 5 cease-fire expires.

Asked about the Feb. 5 deadline, Mrs. Meir said in an interview with the Israeli newspaper Maariv: "The whole world knows we will not break the cease-fire."

Mrs. Meir said Israel will also refuse to accept Egypt's proposal for an international peace force to guard borders in the area.

Cairo has called for setting up a peace keeping force in which the United States, the Soviet Union, Britain and France would take part as permanent members of the U.N. Security Council.

Israel has made known it opposes any Big Four role in a peace settlement.

Mrs. Meir expressed disappointment with progress of the peace talks being held at U.N. headquarters in New York under supervision of special mediator Gunnar V. Jarring.

Ambassadors Yosef Tekohah of Israel and Muhammad H. el-Farra of Jordan made separate calls on Jarring Friday at the mediator's request. There was no word on what transpired.

Golda Meir

In Cairo, leaders of Egypt, Libya, Syria and Sudan attended Moslem Sabbath prayers at Nasser Mosque and heard a sermon calling for holy war against Israel. The four leaders are holding secret talks on the Middle East situation.

Albert Loses Increased Powers Bid In House

WASHINGTON (AP) — New Speaker Carl Albert suffered a stinging defeat Friday when the House refused to grant him increased powers he had sought.

A coalition of Republicans and Southern Democrats stripped from proposed new House rules a provision that would have given Albert power to break a Rules Committee bottleneck on legislation.

Albert, presiding over the House for the first full day, heard himself accused of seeking to return to the days of "Czar" Joe Cannon, the tyrannical speaker of the early days of the century.

The proposed new rule, which was adopted by the Democratic caucus Thursday at Albert's request, would have empowered the speaker to take away from the Rules Committee any bill on which it failed to act within 31 days after receiving written notice.

Southerners, led by Rules Committee Chairman William

M. Colmer of Mississippi, opposed it in the caucus but were defeated, 140 to 78. But with Republicans for allies Friday, Colmer won his fight. The new rule was deleted by a rollcall vote of 233 to 152.

Albert sat silent through the debate, which was dominated by members opposed to the rule.

Former Speaker Sam Rayburn won a bitter fight to adopt a similar rule in 1959, but it was repealed by a later Congress.

The first full day of the 92nd session was marked by another fight over the rules, this one led by Republicans, who charged the Democrats with using black-jack tactics to take away promised committee funds.

Under the Congressional Reorganization Act passed last year, the Republicans were guaranteed one-third of a committee's investigative staff funds. The provision was due to take effect in this Congress.

But at their secret pre-session caucus the Democrats voted to repeal the new rule and then, in order to seal their victory, bound all members of the caucus to support that position on the House floor.

The practice of binding caucus members to the majority position has been almost unused in more than 50 years and Republicans complained bitterly about the procedure.

"At the start of what was to have been an age of reform," said Rep. John B. Anderson, R-Ill., "the Democrats have resorted to iron-fisted practices reminiscent of a bygone era."

Under the parliamentary procedure there was no way the Republicans could get a separate vote on a motion to restore the funds and they had to content themselves with angry rhetoric and a resolution approved by all Republicans in an earlier party caucus condemning the Democrats for their action.

Death Of 1250 Sheep Blamed On Poisonous Little Plant

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Scientists said Friday a poisonous little plant caused the deaths of more than 1,250 sheep on a western Utah range.

After 20 hours of autopsy study, federal and state investigators said they had positively identified the cause of halogeton, a 6-inch high, grayish-brown plant that first showed up in the United States at Wells, Nev., in 1938.

Scientists said the plant, which sheep don't eat unless extremely hungry, causes breathing problems and later bleeding at the nose. Death comes in a matter of hours.

"It was halogeton poisoning," said Dr. Wayne Binns, director of the U.S. Department of Agriculture poisonous plant laboratory at Utah State University in Logan.

"We found oxalate, which is in halogeton—mostly in the wicker-shaped leaves—throughout the bodies of sheep we examined," Binns said.

His findings were supported by the state veterinarian, Dr. James F. Schoenfeld, and Dr. Robert Pendleton, University of Utah radiologist.

The announcement ended speculation that the sheep, part of a herd of 2,400 owned by Clarence Ingram of Nephi, Utah, died from either radiation or nerve gas. The sheep were worth $40 each.

The area, used by sheep ranchers for years, is near the Nevada border, 200 miles northeast of the Atomic Energy Commission test site at Mercury, Nev. It also is 180 miles southwest of Skull Valley, Utah, where 6,400 sheep died in 1968 from nerve gas sprayed from a military plane over Dugway Proving Ground.

The AEC and Army, as soon as the latest deaths were discovered Thursday, denied responsibility. No nuclear tests have been conducted in Nevada, the AEC said, since an underground test broke through the earth's surface last Dec. 18, spreading contaminated dust over Utah.

Spokesmen for Dugway Proving Ground, a secret Army chemical and biological warfare test center 30 miles west of Salt Lake City, said no open air tests of toxic chemicals had been conducted since 1969.

Binns said halogeton killed 850 head of sheep in the area in 1964, but "nobody became concerned about it then."

Other toxic weeds such as grease wood and loco weed are in the area, he said.

Expect More Attacks

Raid Hurts Cambodian Airport

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — A devastating enemy raid on the capital's airport and nearby installations early Friday inflicted more than 200 casualties and nearly wrecked Cambodia's small air force, officials reported.

As small fires still blazed at the site of wrecked planes and helicopters and blown ammunition dumps, Capt. Chhang Song, a Cambodian information officer, declared: "We expect some enemy attacks tonight."

Shortly thereafter, a bomb planted in a ditch wrecked the front of the home of Tran Van Phuoc, South Vietnam's ambassador. Soldiers said Phuoc was unhurt but one person was injured. The residence is near Cambodian army headquarters.

Hardly raising the gloom from this first heavy enemy raid so near the capital was a military spokesman's report that Cambodian and South Vietnamese forces had linked up in Pich Nil Pass on Highway 4, Phnom Penh's lifeline to the sea.

The spokesman said the northbound South Vietnamese and the southbound Cambodians met three miles from the mountainous northern end of the pass, captured by a Cambodian task force Thursday.

A reliable source said it might take a long time to reopen the road to trucks carrying oil and other supplies to Phnom Penh because of the many ambush sites along the 115-mile route. He also reported the enemy had blown 500 yards of roadway into a ravine near the pass.

Chhang Song told reporters the preliminary casualty figures from the morning raid listed 13 soldiers and 26 civilians, including wives and children of soldiers, as killed.

Song said the high command believed only about 10 North Vietnamese or Viet Cong commandoes entered the airport behind a mortar barrage. They ran from plane to plane, planting explosive satchel charges. Three of the attackers were killed.

The briefing officer said about 10 planes were destroyed in the attack and that four helicopters were wiped out. Informed sources said the damage was much heavier, that six of the eight helicopters, donated by the United States, were do-stroyed and the other two damaged.

Three or four South Vietnamese planes used for forward air control and reconnaissance and several South Vietnamese helicopters also were wrecked, said a report from the airport, eight miles outside Phnom Penh.

U.S. sources in Saigon left open the question of whether the United States would replace Cambodian plane and helicopter losses.

U.S. military analysts in Saigon said they thought the attack on the airport was an enemy response to growing American support for the Cambodians and South Vietnamese fighting there.

They noted that the airport has been an inviting target for months because it is poorly guarded. But it was not until the United States began giving air combat support to South Vietnamese and Cambodians clearing Highway 4 that the enemy command ordered the attack on the airport.

The linkup of Cambodian and South Vietnamese forces did not mean an end to the fighting on Highway 4. A Saigon spokesman reported three fresh outbreaks of fighting along the highway.

None of the fights was large, but they suggested that the Communist command left behind some troops to harass the allies and try to disrupt supply lines. The enemy seized Pich Nil and another pass farther south Nov. 21, cutting off sea-borne supplies to the capital.

Pipeline Near Go-Ahead

It looks very much as though the oil companies are going to have their way about installing a hot-oil pipeline across an 800-mile span of Alaska. Issuance of a permit is all but assured by an Interior Department report which concludes that economic benefits derived from this project will outweigh environmental damage.

That is a debatable conclusion, as conservationists and ecologists have been making clear ever since the pipeline project first came to light. This is tacitly acknowledged in the Interior Department report. It dwells at some length on such harmful effects as degradation of permafrost near the pipeline, localized erosion, siltation of some streams and waterways, damage to fish and wildlife.

The question is: How much environmental damage is acceptable under present and foreseeable circumstances? Other questions are related to that one, or a part of it. For example: How badly will that oil be needed in the near future? Another is whether the undoubted short-term economic benefits to Alaska justify a course that may in the long run do a lot of ecological harm.

Opponents of the pipeline will have opportunities to challenge Interior's conclusions: There will be hearings in Anchorage and Washington on successive dates in February. As a practical matter, however, it appears likely that oil interests will prevail and get the final go-ahead before long.

Bobby Baker Goes To Jail

The Bobby Baker affair, which at least peripherally involved men at the very pinnacle of our government, has at last been brought to a conclusion. Having had recourse to every possible avenue of due legal process, as was his right, Robert G. Baker has now begun formal payment of his debt to society.

Baker's operations, which resulted in convictions for income tax evasion, theft and conspiracy to defraud the government, comprised one of the most outrageous scandals ever to shock Washington. The capital is a city of recurrent scandals, with neither of the major political parties escaping the affliction. The Sherman Adams affair of the 1950s comes to mind at once, as do the disclosures only a short time ago about influence-peddling by men close to House Speaker John W. McCormack. No scandal in recent decades, however, has shaken Washington quite as much as the revelations about Baker's wheeling and dealing.

One evident reason for this is that young Baker had for years been the protégé of Lyndon B. Johnson, then Senate majority leader and later President of the United States. It was while serving as secretary to the Senate Democrats that Baker used the influence of his position and his connections in high places to enrich himself.

Now the final move on the chessboard of the law has been made. Refused a hearing by the Supreme Court, Robert G. "Bobby" Baker has begun a prison term at Lewisburg, Pa. The tumult has faded, but the echoes can still be heard.

The Two Go Together

A multitude of Americans are re-currently engaged in an enterprise they call being "on a diet." A much smaller number, with the same general intention of losing weight but also the intention of being as well as merely looking fit, are engaged in a program of eating less and exercising more. There is a difference.

Those in the former group—the "on a diet" crowd—may lose some weight, all right. Those in the second group—the ones who are combining an increase in exercise with a reduced caloric intake—have a better chance of trimming down without ill effects, and a vastly better chance of getting themselves into good shape and enjoying robust health.

The point is not an obscure one. Simply taking off pounds is one thing; changing one's dietary habits and regimen in such a way as to achieve both a slimmer silhouette and physical well-being is quite another. It's the combination of less intake and more expenditure of energy that does the trick.

Spell Out Air Policy Limitations In Cambodia

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Pentagon officials say U.S. pilots are under orders to avoid population centers and temples while supporting friendly ground troops in Cambodia.

U.S. helicopters and fighters flying support for South Vietnamese and Cambodian troops have "no open-end, blanket authority" to strike at any target in Cambodia, officials said Wednesday in elaborating on remarks made by Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird at a news conference.

Meanwhile, it was learned in Saigon U.S. advisers and South Vietnamese officers are traveling together on command helicopters in Cambodia, occasionally setting foot on the ground. Sources familiar with South Vietnamese troop movements said U.S. advisers usually spend no more than 10 or 15 minutes on the ground, landing only for a briefing or for map coordination.

Defense Department spokesman Jerry W. Friedheim refused comment on the report. He said earlier in the week there were no U.S. advisers in Cambodia, in the air or on the ground.

In spelling out limitations on U.S. air policy in Southeast Asia, Laird said Wednesday: "There are certain protections written into orders; there are certain controls that are written into those orders."

Officials said pilots are ordered to hit only military targets and to avoid civilian casualties and damage to religious structures.

There are indications U.S. bombing operations also are limited in areas near the borders of Thailand and that such attacks are carried out only after consultation with Thai officials.

This may be a major reason for reported Communist efforts to convert two Cambodian provinces along the Thai border, Pursat and Battam Bang, into sanctuaries for troop training and rest.

Pentagon officials indicated time limits are applied to authorizations for air attacks in specific areas. This, they said, is a device for maintaining a command bridge over air operations.

Where Laird formerly talked mainly of "interdiction" of enemy supply and troop movements, he now speaks in broader terms of "air support," obviously including close air cover for friendly troops and transporting them into battle.

Laird indicated U.S. air power is being thrown into the Cambodian fighting to supplement the growing South Vietnamese air force and that he does not expect such air support to continue for several years.

Laird contended such air operations fall within authority of legislation enacted by Congress. This drew a quick challenge from Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho.

Church called for a meeting of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee to hear testimony from Laird, Secretary of State William P. Rogers and Adm. Thomas Moorer, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Church cosponsored with Sen. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., the restrictive amendment to President Nixon's Cambodia aid bill barring U.S. troops from that country.

Among The Democrats

Muskie Is In Top Spot For '72

By BRUCE BIOSSAT
NEA Washington Correspondent
WASHINGTON (NEA) — My first Democratic presidential survey, a check of 15 states across the country, shows that Maine's Sen. Edmund Muskie is already beginning to convert his much-proclaimed lead into the hard currency of committed support in many places.

The states I sampled were New York, New Jersey, West Virginia, Virginia, Alabama, Texas, Ohio, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Missouri, South Dakota, Utah, Oregon and California.

Among the more striking findings gleaned from talks with politicians and observers:

A high Democratic source in Missouri says that virtually the entire state delegation to the 1972 national convention will be for Muskie. The surprise is the early commitment. Missouri, heavily for Hubert Humphrey in 1968, would hardly go for a leftist liberal.

In Humphrey's own Minnesota, a careful party leader puts Muskie far ahead in probable delegate strength, even though an active rival, Sen. George McGovern, is based in neighboring South Dakota. Says this source:

"Muskie comes through here as having a basic tendency to unify the party... We're not spending much time thinking about the others."

In New York state, the Democratic party's greatest political morass, dozens of key figures—including many liberal reform types—are straining at the leash. They want to declare quickly for Muskie.

A prominent 1970 office-seeker, whose name can't be revealed here, recently had to be held back from declaring. A friend describes him as "1,000 per cent for Muskie."

This friend says he could put together a cluster of 150 leading figures for Muskie any time he wants to but is deliberately restraining himself and others on grounds it is too early.

An Alabama Democrat says Muskie unquestionably is the "most salable non-southerner" in his state. He believes the prime movers in other Deep South states feel the same. He adds:

"They're looking for what they can sell here and stay alive... This guy (Muskie) looks real. He's not one of those crazy people."

Texas, a different kind of battleground with its mixture of Deep South and New South nevertheless also looks good for Muskie. He is more popular with the established conservative leadership than was Humphrey. And rival liberals have no hope of putting over another man.

Virginia sources say that right now Muskie probably could be sure of maybe a third of their 1972 delegation, with the rest eager for a more conservative prospect like Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington.

In liberal West Virginia, it's all Muskie. Only a revived candidacy for Sen. Edward Kennedy would alter the outlook. A distinguished Democrat there says:

"Nobody else so far has shown any flash... McGovern didn't click with party leaders at a breakfast last fall."

Oregon, which went for former Sen. Eugene McCarthy over the late Robert F. Kennedy in the 1968 primary, is presently marked by an "awful lot of Muskie talk" and virtually nothing for others, say its leaders.

Muskie is in commanding position in such other widely separated places as New Jersey, Ohio and Utah. Utah's veteran Gov. Calvin Rampton already has declared for him. There is no visible rival of strength in New Jersey, though one leader there thinks Muskie needs a "strong teammate" to make an

Ann Landers:

Vasectomy Illegal In Some States

Dear Ann Landers: Recently you stated in your column that the vasectomy was legal in all states. This is to inform you that Section 17-19 of the Connecticut General Statutes allows vasectomy only on individuals who "would produce children with an inherited tendency to crime, mental illness or mental deficiency." Furthermore, Section 53-33 of the Connecticut General Statutes makes it illegal for anyone to perform, assist in, or otherwise promote the performance of the operation described in Section 17-19.

The penalty for violation of this statute is a fine of not more than $1,000 or imprisonment for not more than five years or both.

Your advice seems to be in violation of Section 53-33 since you appear to be promoting vasectomy in situations where there is no medical necessity. —D.C.R. (Hartford attorney)

Dear Hart: I appreciate your writing and I stand corrected. Your letter hints that I may be subject to a $1,000 fine and five years in stir, on the grounds that I am promoting vasectomy. I am not a promoter. I am a columnist who expresses views on a variety of subjects. Birth control is one of those subjects. I believe that people who want to limit the size of their families should be free to utilize any technique which they consider suitable for them — without interference from church or state.

Dear Ann Landers: Vasectomy is not legal in Texas because it may constitute legal mutilation, which is defined as depriving an organ of its function. —H.A.T. (M.D.)

Dear Doc: I hope one day in the not-too-distant future the Texas legislators will acknowledge the fact that some organs have more than one function. Thanks for letting me know that they have not yet reached this point.

Dear Ann Landers: How far should a mother go to save her married daughter from destruction? Her husband gambles and she is alone every night with her baby. The supper gets cold on the table and she worries that maybe he is dead in a ditch somewhere. She can't work because of poor health. I'm sure most of her sickness is from worrying about bills and where her husband is. When she threatens to leave him, he cries and says he needs her. They argue all the time about unpaid bills and her being alone so much.

If her health was good, I would mind my own business; but I feel it is my duty to help my daughter before she has a complete breakdown. The only solution I can see is for her to get rid of that no-good bum. How can I get this across to her? —A Grieving Mom

Dear Mom: When your daughter has had enough punishment she will throw the bum out. In the meantime, stay out of it. No one can save anybody. Everyone must save himself. If your daughter reads my column, she might be interested in the address of Gamblers Anonymous—just in case her husband decides HE has had enough and wants to cure himself of this illness and lead a decent life. ### Law For Today

Q. My daughter said the man who got her pregnant now denies the fact. Can we begin a paternity suit against him even though the baby isn't born yet?

A. A paternity suit may be instituted before a child is born, but the action must be taken by your pregnant daughter. She must file a written complaint in Circuit Court accusing the man of being the father of her child, if it should be born alive. —Illinois State Bar Assn.

Thoughts

The grass withers, the flower fades, when the breath of the Lord blows upon it; surely the people is grass. The grass withers, the flower fades; but the word of our God will stand forever. —Isaiah 40:7, 8.

God governs in the affairs of man; and if a sparrow cannot fall to the ground without His notice, is it probable that an empire can rise without His aid. —Benjamin Franklin

Double Talk Salves Clashing Egos

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — If every one said only what he really meant, and meant everything he said, this world would be a bear pit.

The friction generated by our clashing egos would rub us all raw. If each man or woman told the other what he really thought of him, human society as we know it would be impossible.

That is why we have double talk, which is as essential to society as the wheel is to progress. Double talk is the art of saying something pleasant while thinking, perhaps, just the opposite. This enables us to save the other fellow while salvaging our own desire to be honest, too.

For the uninitiated, here are a few examples of double talk in quotes, followed in each case by what the person who said them was actually thinking:

"My dear, quit worrying about it. It fits you like a glove."—That's why it makes you look like a baseball catcher's mitt.

"What we can't change we have to put up with. After all, neither of us is getting any younger."—But if I thought I looked as old as you do, I'd put on a mask.

"Professor, taking your course in Plato makes me feel like I'm strolling in Athens on a sunlit day."—But anyway you slice it, it's still Greek to me.

"Smithers, we mustn't try to skip up the rungs of the ladder of success too quickly or we'll miss some of the view, won't we?"—Does this nitwit have the effrontery to think he can beat me out of my job?

"I have listened to you carefully, and rest assured I'll give your words thoughtful consideration."—They went in one ear and out the other so fast they didn't even make an echo.

"The tensions of today build up in all of us. My advice is that you should take a long vacation somewhere alone where you can find yourself—the real you."—At least then you can't pollute my environment.

"Do you really mean you want me to tell you what I think you should do?"—You tempt me, Mac, you tempt me.

"Don't you feel it's too cold a day, Myrtle, to go bird watching?"—Let's stay inside by the fire, baby, and I'll ruffle your feathers.

Birds need more air than any other vertebrate.

LEE MUELLER
Yale Girls, Vassar Men:
Whither La Difference?

By LEE MUELLER
NEW YORK (NEA)—At least 30 incidents occurred during 1970 which made Dr. Paul S. Weaver terribly unhappy. Thirdly, as it happens, is the exact number of private, single-sex colleges that became coeducational institutions.

You might have noticed. The halls of Ivy are wilting. Speak no more of the Men of Harvard or the Men of Princeton. There are ladies present. Also notice, please, that male students now walk upon the campus of Vassar College, whose motto nevertheless remains, "Wisdom and Purity."

There are 2,250 colleges and universities in the United States, give or take a few. All but 520 are now coeducational. Only 285 all-women and 235 all-men schools remain.

"Economic conditions have necessitated many of the switches," Weaver observed.

"As the lush days of abundant applications pass, private schools are trying to widen their appeal by going coed. What they should be doing is trying to locate people who can afford a superior education and seeing for their role in life. I believe it is better for women to attend an institution organized around their own unique needs."

Weaver isn't pushing women back into the kitchen with graduate courses in mopping. He probably understands the gripes of women as well as it is humanly possible for any male to understand them—and he is not reluctant to use his understanding to lure students to Lake Erie.

"Of all the educated women in America," he tells them, "the graduates of women's colleges are the most married, the least divorced, have produced the most children... the greatest pain in the world is rejection. To be rejected—for a job or whatever—for the wrong reason doubles the agony. I'd scream if it were me—and these women's lib people are screaming... When a man marries, he adds something to his life; when a woman marries, it changes her way of life..."

These are days, Weaver says, when many youths are attracted to coed schools because that's where the action is. Action on campus today is social and political concern, protest and, as always, boys and girls.

"About 10 per cent of the top-rated high school students don't want this kind of education," he said. "It would be tragic if we lost the diversity of selection."

Weaver isn't speaking against coeducation, understand. Not at all. "It's just that students should be able to choose between a top-flight education and a coeducation," he said.

Lake Erie, for example, is a peaceful school of 600 young ladies, dedicated to study and riding horses. "There's no pervasive superficial excitement going on," he said. "Our girls spend a lot of time in our new library."

Phyllis' Mushroom-Barley Soup

An especially good version of an old-time dish.

2 pounds of beef soup bones with meat
2 quarts water
Leaves and top parts of ribs of 1 stalk celery
1 medium onion, peeled and left whole
Salt and pepper to taste
1/4 cup pearly medium barley
1 cup diced pared carrots
1 cup diced celery
2 tablespoons butter
1/2 sup diced onion, 1/4 pound mushrooms, diced

In a large saucepot bring to a boil the bones, water, celery leaves and top parts of ribs, whole onion, salt and pepper; simmer for 2 hours or until meat is tender. Remove meat from bones and dice; set aside. Strain stock.

To clean saucepot return the strained stock; add barley; simmer 1 1/2 hours. Add carrots and

The atmosphere of an all-girl college requires a certain amount of adjustment, of course. "Some girls come to Lake Erie and leave after their first year," Dr. Weaver said. "The worm is turning, though. Many of the better girls are returning after discovering all is not gold in them there hills."

diced celery; continue to cook until barley and vegetables are very tender—1/2 hour.

Meanwhile in an 8-inch skillet over low heat melt the butter; add diced onion and mushrooms; cook gently, stirring often, until onion is golden—about 20 minutes; add to saucepot with diced meat. Reheat, correcting seasoning if necessary. Makes 6 servings.

Someone to thank

"God is a product of man's imagination," announced the dignified intellectual who occupied our TV screen. "God isn't dead," he argued as our children watched. "He was never alive!"

Mary and I felt that Christian children such as ours should realize that not everyone believes in God. Perhaps, knowing this, they could better understand the state of the world. We would encourage and answer their questions as best we could, confident that God would not allow their faith to be destroyed.

Later, before I tucked Kristen into bed, she clasped her hands and closed her eyes. "Dear Lord," she prayed, "Thank you for Mommy and Daddy. Thank you for Zoomie (her goldfish) and Teddy and my new dress..." She stopped suddenly, and I raised questioning eyes to her. "Daddy," she said anxiously, "that man on TV doesn't have anyone to thank!"

Do you have Someone to thank? Come to church this Sunday.

2nd Bald Eagle Is Found Dead In State Area

JERSEYVILLE — The finding of another bald eagle in a trap in the Madison county locality Monday of this week is bringing further requests from conservationists that some additional legislation be enacted to furnish additional protection for the species in its winter concentration areas, such as the Illinois river locality in southwestern Jersey county.

The bird reported to have been found Monday was dead upon discovery in a wooded farm field in the Highland vicinity. The trapping death of the first bird at the Principia College occurred there after it had been found with a trap on its foot in a wooded locality of near Alton, and taken to the college for care and release in case of recovery which did not occur.

The trapper or trappers involved in the destruction of the two bald eagles evidently failed to visit their trap lines they had put out. State Agent Wm. Desheria of Grafton and Federal Game Agent Dean G. Tresch went to the site of the second trapping finding near Highland Tuesday and conducted an investigation.

The bald eagle found on the farm near Highland is believed to have had the trap on its leg for several weeks before it finally died.

It is an established fact that the eagles in winter come to the southwestern Jersey locality to spend the cold period. Conservationists in the area are advocating a State and Federal law that would prohibit trapping in areas where the eagles are known to spend the winter months, and thus remove such a menace to the species in its struggle to survive. But action must be immediate if the battle to prevent extermination of the species is to be won at this end of the effort.

"There will be little economic loss to trappers of fur bearing animals in the locality," one conservationist stated.

"What value is a bunch of possum hides, after all, compared to the preservation of the bald eagle. Our great grandchildren may only be able to determine what an eagle must have looked like by studying some of our currency."

Film And Panel On Alcoholism Here Jan. 25

The Jacksonville Area Council on Alcoholism (JACOA) and Drug Dependence and the Jacksonville State Hospital will co-sponsor an information night for the public and any interested person in the area Monday night, Jan. 25th. This will be at 7:30 p.m. in the Sophia Leschin Building at the Hospital.

A film, Alcoholism, Disease in Disguise, will be shown and a discussion by a panel will follow. The latter will be composed of four representatives from the hospital alcoholism program, JACOA, Jacksonville Police Department and from the State of Illinois' section on Alcoholism.

FIREMEN RESCUE SUSAN HAYWARD

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Actress Susan Hayward was rescued by firemen yesterday after a living room blaze trapped her on the balcony of her ninth floor condominium apartment.

Chopping through a heavy hall door with axes, the firemen got to Miss Hayward as she prepared to lower herself to a balcony below on two blankets tied together.

"She was dirty and smoked up," said Lt. Ken Nation, but she was taken out uninjured.

Firemen said the blaze started in a living room chair, probably from a cigaret, and spread across a rug. The entire apartment suffered heavy smoke damage.

Church Women United Plan Dinner Jan. 29

Women United in Jacksonville The annual meeting of Church Women United will be a dinner meeting January 29, at 6:30 p.m. at the First Baptist church, 1 Forest Hill Drive, according to Mrs. Donald Batz, president.

A special program on "Housing and Human Relations" will be presented by the Rev. John Shaffer and Mrs. Dola Robinson. Mr. Shaffer, minister of the Congregational church, is president and one of the originators of Operation Upgrade Community Housing (OUCH). Mrs. Robinson is a member of the Human Relations Commission of the City of Jacksonville.

Members of CWU will provide a potluck meal. Husbands and any interested citizens are cordially invited to attend.

Mrs. Charles Quigg, chairman of the CWU nominating committee, will present nominees for the annual election of officers.

"The business meeting will be brief," Mrs. Batz said. "Our hope is to promote fellowship, to increase understanding of the purposes of Church Women United, and to encourage community efforts to make Jacksonville a better place to live."

The CWU board will hold its next meeting February 22 at 7:30 p.m. at Centenary United Methodist Church. Mrs. Fred Harris will present plans for World Day of Prayer Friday, March 5.

Democrats File Suit For Loss Of Jobs

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—A federal court suit was filed Friday against Secretary of State John W. Lewis, seeking reinstatement and $190,000 damages for 19 employees allegedly fired because they were Democrats.

Lewis' office said he was not familiar with the suit and had no comment. Lewis is a Republican.

A spokesman for the Illinois State Employees Union, Lawrence Reinold, later told newsmen the basis for the suit was that "political affiliation should have nothing to do with the terms of employment."

An injunction against further firings is sought, he said. Reinold said people should be hired on the basis of their abilities to perform duties.

If they are fired, he said, "the reason should be in writing."

Reinold said the current suit involves only members of his union. He estimated there were 400 of his union's members employed by the secretary of state's office, or about 18 percent of all employees.

Reinold said no similar suit had been brought against state School Supt. Michael Bakalis, a Democrat, because no members of the union employed by Bakalis' staff had been fired.

YOUR BIRTHDAY AND HOROSCOPE

By STELLA WILDER
SATURDAY, JANUARY 23—Born today, you have been gifted with tremendous amounts of energy and determination. Your will power should be sufficient always to carry you through difficulties even of lengthy duration. You do not enjoy working entirely on your own and for your own purposes, however; rather, you need to feel that you have the support of others—and give support to others—as you work toward mutual goals in joint projects. You appreciate both the company and the help.

You are not destined for a particularly early marriage—but this does not mean that you won't find yourself in a very great number of emotional entanglements with members of the opposite sex during your young adulthood. Indeed, there may be times when your many close relationships, both of a romantic and platonic nature, actually become both confusing and too time-consuming. Balance your social life with plenty of work.

You will probably not have a long battle with either conscience of talents to discover what it is you must do with your life insofar as a career is concerned. Early in life—perhaps even as a very young child—it will be obvious at least to those about you that your proclivities lie in a certain and definite direction. It is to be hoped that your training will begin then.

To find what is in store for you tomorrow, select your birthday and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

Sunday, January 24
AQUARIUS (Jan. 21-Feb. 19)—Present plans should prove entirely satisfactory for this day. The temptation to drop things and begin anew should be fought.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 21)—A pleasant surprise in store for the socially minded Pisces. Don't neglect morning worship in your excitement.

ARIES (March 22-April 20)—If your will is powerful enough, you can gain your own ends today in spite of strong opposition. Consider your initial aims.

TAURUS (April 21-May 21)—Present difficulties should lessen to a considerable degree this morning as you begin to apply the means of solution.

GEMINI (May 22-June 21)—The right word at the right time can work wonders in your relationships with other family members. Don't be timid.

CANCER (June 22-July 23)—Employ the utmost in tact today if you would see your personal interests take a turn for the better in their execution.

LEO (July 24-Aug. 23)—A spiritual day filled with the sort of insightful moments that make the future an exciting prospect to contemplate.

VIRGO (Aug. 24-Sept. 23)—Harmony in all things domestic makes this day more memorable than any in many a moon. Morning worship leads to an attitude of calm.

LIBRA (Sept. 24-Oct. 23)—The caprices of loved ones must be forgiven readily. To make too much of lighthearted changes of mind would be a mistake.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)—Conservation action following conservative thought leads you to the successful conclusion of projects.

SAGITTARIS (Nov. 23-Dec. 22)—Romance is in the air.

Seek Director For Morgan Co. United Fund

A committee named by the board of the United Fund of Morgan County is responsible for recommending a new executive director for the fund drive, to fill the vacancy created by resignation of Byron Holkenbrink.

The former Jacksonville mayor served as fund director in 1969 and 1970. The position of executive director, according to board president Darrow Steinheimer, is "a full time job for six months, July through December, but the board is prepared to consider other possibilities depending on qualifications of candidates." The salary will be negotiated.

Rev. Gerald Peterson heads the committee which will report

Take care not to move too far from home in your search for excitement. New interest keeps you hopping.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)—Avoid letting too many outsiders know your plans. Approach plans for the future with confidence in your ability to carry them out.

to the board on February 16th. Other members of the committee are William Oxley, Dan Peck, Rev. John Shaffer and George Thayer.

Qualified persons, interested in the position, may secure an application from Rev. Peters, No. 8 South Crescent Drive, phone 245-4797. Applications should be submitted by Monday, Feb. 1st.

FINLEY WILL SPEAK JAN. 25 AT MT. STERLING
MT. STERLING — Congressman Paul Finley will be the speaker at the annual dinner meeting of the Mt. Sterling Chamber of Commerce to be held for members and wives in the Florida Room of Bates restaurant here. This will be at 6:30 p.m. Monday, Jan. 25th.

The Chamber president, Bill Roe, reports there will be a panel discussion with participants Harold Hoelscher, president, McKee Creek District; Robert Yates, Glenn Thomas and Will Davis. The latter is from the Quincy Herald Whig paper. The topic will be about the McKee Creek Watershed project, presently awaiting funding in Washington.

New Constitution Changes Caseload

CHICAGO (AP) — The chief justice of the Illinois Supreme Court held the Illinois State Bar Association Friday night that the high court's caseload will probably decrease as a result of a provision in the new state Constitution.

Justice Robert C. Underwood said many appeals of cases now coming before the Supreme Court will be shifted to the Appellate Court after July 1. He predicted additional manpower would be needed in the Appellate Court.

Speaking at a Bar Association Convention, Underwood said the new Constitution confers an absolute right of direct appeal to the Supreme Court only in capital cases where a death sentence is imposed.

He said the new charter empowers the Supreme Court to establish rules for judicial review of other cases and predicted the high court would soon announce such measures.

Underwood said that as a result of the new Constitution the Supreme Court will hear cases "meriting the attention of a state court of last resort, and not cases before us solely because of an inflexible constitutional provision conferring an absolute right of direct appeal to our court."

He called for an additional clerk for each permanent member of the Appellate Court to deal with the expected increased caseload.

Nixon

transferred from the federal Treasury to state and local governments "to be used as the states and localities see fit." This would all be new money and no strings would be attached.

—An additional $11 billion would be provided for six broad purposes—urban development, rural development, education, transportation, job training and law enforcement—"but with the states and localities making their own local decisions on how it should be spent."

Of the $11 billion, $1 billion would represent new money and the remaining $10 billion would be provided by "converting one-third of the money going to the present narrow-purpose aid programs." He did not specify which ones.

Under present law, states and localities in most cases must match grants of federal aid. Under the Nixon plan, there would be no matching requirement whatever, allowing lower levels of government to use the savings in other ways.

Nixon said that if his plan is adopted, total federal aid to states and localities would be increased by more than 25 per cent over current levels in the 1972 fiscal year that begins July 1.

Officials said that part of the revenue-sharing plan would go into effect Oct. 1 and the balance next Jan. 1, Congress willing.

While $16 billion was the total tab earmarked for revenue-sharing during its first year of operation, officials said the amount would be increased on a regular basis as the personal income tax base expands. One said the aim is to take 1.3 per cent of that base and translate it into shared revenues.

In advocating revenue-sharing, Nixon said he would insist on "safeguards against discrimination that accompany all other federal funds allocated to the states."

Here is how the President outlined his proposal for reform of the Cabinet departments:
"I propose that the Departments of State, Treasury, Defense and Justice remain, but that all the other departments be consolidated into four: Human Resources, Community Development, Natural Resources and Economic Development."

Acknowledging that special interests in and out of Congress will resist abolishing such old standbys as the Agriculture, Labor and Commerce Departments, Nixon said each person involved should ask himself not "Will change cause me inconvenience?" but rather, "Will change bring the country progress?"

Nixon said:
"Over the years we have added departments and created agencies, each to serve a new constituency or to handle a particular task—and these have grown and multiplied in what has become a hopeless confusion of form and function."

"The time has come to match our structure to our purposes—to look with a fresh eye, and to organize the government by conscious, comprehensive design to meet the new needs of a new era."

Speaking of those "frustrated young Americans" who ask how they can matter in the governmental scheme of things, Nixon said:

"We hear you and we will give you a chance. We are going to give you a new chance to have more to say about the decisions that affect your future—to participate in government—because we are going to provide more centers of power where what you do can make a difference that you can see and feel in your own life and the life of your whole community."

Playing a variation on this theme, he said:
"The further away government is from people, the stronger government becomes. And the weaker people become. And a nation with a strong government and a weak people is an empty shell."

The chief executive said the 92nd Congress has an opportunity to open the way "to a new American revolution—a peaceful revolution in which power was turned back to the people—in which government at all levels was refreshed and renewed, and made truly responsive."

Nixon told Congress the revolution he envisions can be "as profound, as far-reaching, as exciting, as that first revolution almost 200 years ago."

At the outset Nixon sought to strike an optimistic note, saying:
"In these troubled years just past, America has been going through a long nightmare of war and division, of crime and inflation. Even more deeply, we have gone through a long, dark night of the American spirit. But now that night is ending. Now we must let our spirits soar again. Now we are ready for the light of a driving dream."

Another Plane Hijacked To Cuba Friday

DETROIT (AP) — A Northwest Orient Airlines jet with 54 passengers and six crew members landed at Havana, Cuba at 5:41 p.m. EST Friday after being hijacked after leaving Milwaukee an airlines spokesman said.

The plane refueled during a stop in Detroit and then took off for Havana.

Wayne County Sheriff William Lucas said the hijacker carried a hatchet and a briefcase he

Massive Federal Aid Sought For Nation's Cities

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two big-city mayors and a governor told Congress Friday local government faces bankruptcy and physical and social collapse without massive federal aid.

They generally agreed with Chairman William Proxmire, D-Wis., of the Senate-House Economic Committee that the money must come from cuts in such things as space exploration, defense and development of a supersonic transport.

Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York City said his troubled city will be denied about $150 million in revenue this year because of what he called a recession economy. At the same time, he said, "inflation is driving our costs $100 million higher."

Gov. Milton Shapp of Pennsylvania declared: "Our situation is so serious that within 30 days the commonwealth will be out of money and unable to meet some of its obligations."

Mayor Kenneth A. Gibson of Newark, N.J., said his city is a disaster area with an unemployment rate of 11.1 per cent, the nation's highest crime rate and highest level of venereal disease.

"These are just a few of the facts which suggest that the commercial, industrial, social and cultural hub of the state of New Jersey may also be the most decayed and financially crippled city in the nation," Gibson said.

Proxmire said it is common belief President Nixon will submit a new budget calling for expenditures of no more than $230 billion and revenue of only $215 billion, a $15-billion deficit.

The appearance of the three officials marked the beginning of a series of hearings on the nation's economic conditions.

GUGGENHEIM DIES

SANIS POINT, N.Y. (AP) — Harry F. Guggenheim, who founded the Long Island newspaper Newsday and turned it into the largest suburban daily in the United States, died today at his home here. He was 80.

claimed contained a bomb.

The sheriff said the hijacker at first wanted to go to Algiers, but settled for Cuba when the pilot told him the plane, a Boeing 727, was not equipped for a flight to Africa.

The FBI tentatively identified the hijacker as Gerald Grant, about 25, who boarded the plane at Milwaukee.

Michigan Gov. William G. Milliken was to have boarded the flight in Detroit for Washington. No passengers were allowed on in Detroit, however, and Milliken was reported to have taken another plane provided for travelers planning to take the original flight from Detroit. The hijacked plane landed in Detroit at 1:30 p.m. EST and left a little over an hour later.

It was not immediately known how the hijacker informed the crew of his intentions, but a sheriff's deputy told newsmen the hijacker apparently was "behind the cockpit" during the flight.

Lucas told newsmen the decision to allow the plane to take off without making an attempt to delay it was done in the interest of the safety of the passengers, which he described as "paramount."

The plane took on a full load of fuel and was expected to fly nonstop from Detroit to Havana.

The plane was en route from Minneapolis to Washington, D.C. Before reaching Milwaukee, the craft made stops at Rochester, Minn., and Madison, Wis.

Russell's Body Lies In State In Georgia

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The body of U.S. Sen. Richard Russell, returned to his native state aboard the presidential jet, lay in state Friday in Georgia's gold-domed Capitol where Russell once sat as the state's youngest governor.

Air Force 1 touched down at Atlanta airport under leaden skies and was met by Gov. Jimmy Carter, his wife, former Gov. Ernest Vandiver and a military honor guard.

About 100 persons lined windows of a nearby terminal to watch the flag-draped, bronze coffin unloaded and placed in a grey hearse for the trip downtown to the Capitol.

Thousands of Georgians were expected to view the body in the red-carpeted rotunda of the Capitol before it is taken Saturday to Russell's home town of Winder, 45 miles north of here.

President Nixon heads a long list of dignitaries scheduled to visit Winder to pay respects Saturday.

Russell, who died in Washington Thursday at the age of 73, will be buried Sunday on a wooded hillside in a grove behind the family home next to his mother, who died in 1953.

A memorial shaft in the family cemetery bears the name of his parents his 14 brothers and sisters.

There were tearful faces among the Georgians lining up outside the capitol waiting to pay final respects to Russell, who died while undergoing treatment for a recurrent lung ailment.

The tall, courtly Russell, described by former President Lyndon Johnson as "patriotic," was the Senate's president pro tem and the leading spokesman of its Southern caucus.

Report Change In Computing Living Indexes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The first in a series of expected changes in the methods of computing major price indicators, including the Gross National Product and the Cost of Living indexes was announced Friday by the Labor Department.

The department's Bureau of Labor Statistics announced it is changing the reference base period for the Wholesale Price Index with release of the January 1971 data.

The period will shift from a 1957-1959 base to a 1967 base equaling 100, the Bureau said.

"The U.S. office of management and Budget established the new reference base for use by all government statistical agencies..." the Bureau said in a statement, indicating all government indexes will move to the 1967 base.

Among those expected to change are the Cost of Living-Consumer Price Index, which now operates on the 1957-1959 base; the Federal Reserve Board's Industrial Production Index, which deals with changes in the physical output of plants and facilities; and the real Gross National Product, which currently is based on 1958 dollars. The real GNP is adjusted to take out inflation factors.

The shift to a more modern base is expected to simplify both statistic-keeping and the average person's interpretation of change. That is, it is easier to remember prices only three years ago, than to recall them from 13 years ago.

Superficially, there may seem to be a smaller change in prices—though percentage changes will be the same—but while the prices seem smaller, so will inflation production.

The bureau said the changes in its statistical bases will be applied to all past reports, and made available on request when final data for January 1971 are released.

The All Commodities Index, the basic figure in compiling the Wholesale Price Index, will continue to be listed on the 1957-1959 base, the bureau said. And, rebasing factors will be made available for the major indexes so calculations may be made converting to the new base from the old, or vice-versa.

"Rebasing an index," the bureau statement emphasized, "does not alter the percentage change between index figures over time, except for rounding differences."

Sixteen Seamen Missing From Oil Tanker

CAGLIARI, Italy (AP) — Sixteen seamen were missing and feared lost Friday night following two explosions and fire aboard an American-owned oil tanker.

Twenty-three other members of the crew—two-thirds of them Japanese—were rescued after spending a night in the storm-tossed Mediterranean in two wooden lifeboats and a rubber raft.

About 10 Italian navy and merchant ships and two air-planes searched the choppy seas off Sardinia's southwest coast for the missing seamen, but hope of finding them dimmed. Police trekked over desolate beaches looking for survivors.

The entire crew abandoned the 33,882-ton tanker, the Universe Patriot, shortly after sending a distress signal Thursday night. The ship was returning to Tripoli, Libya, after unloading crude oil at Port de Bouc, France.

The crippled tanker, a huge hole blasted in her left side, was grounded Friday on a sandbar about a mile and a half off Capo Pecora.

Several Italian tugs were around the ship but the sea was still too agitated to attempt to place a man aboard.

DEMOCRATIC WHIP APPOINTED FRIDAY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Thomas P. O'Neill Jr. of Massachusetts, in his tenth term as successor to John F. Kennedy in the House, was appointed Democratic whip Friday.

Told of his selection just 20 minutes before it was announced, the 56-year-old O'Neill—who has been active in politics since his mid-teens—laughed as he remarked to reporters:

"I've never been in the whip's office—I don't even know where it is. Somebody said it is next to the chapel, and I said, gee, I've never been in that, either."

O'Neill pledged loyalty to Speaker of the House Carl Albert of Oklahoma and Majority Leader Hale Boggs of Louisiana—the men who picked him—and said:

Boggs said the job of deputy whip which has been held by Rep. John E. Moss of California was abolished.

Instead, Reps. John J. McFall of California and John Brademas of Indiana will be floor whips, Boggs said Moss was not interested in this job.

Patching cracks, holes and other gaps in a plaster wall is one repair you can make that will give you the feeling of a professional.

When done properly—and it isn't difficult—the result will be as smooth and unnoticeable as if it had been turned out by an expert. One reason for this is the ease with which modern plaster patching materials can be used.

Most of these materials come in powder form and are mixed with water to make them workable. The most common, spackling compound, has the virtue for the amateur of not drying as quickly as the old reliable plaster of paris. Some professionals who still use plaster mix it with a little vinegar to retard the drying time. Others make a mixture of half spackling compound and half plaster of paris. Small cracks and nail holes can be repaired simply by covering the open area with the compound and then spreading it with a putty knife. Larger openings require a little more attention. They should be undercut, which means making the bottom of each opening larger than the top. This locks in the new plaster. Also, the place to be repaired should be dampened first and, after the material has set, dampened again.

If the opening is fairly deep, fill it about three-quarters of the way, let it set, then complete the job. If time is important, use plaster of paris, since it will set faster and permit you to go ahead with the second layer.

Most repair material shrinks ever so slightly, so the final coat should be the tiniest fraction of an inch above the surrounding surface. Besides taking care of the shrinkage, this allows some leeway for the sanding that must follow to bring everything level. Once the spot has been sanded, primed and painted, it should be difficult if not impossible to find the patched area.

New home owners are sometimes dismayed to find cracks in the wall a few months after they have moved in. Rarely is this serious, being caused by the inevitable settling of the structure. In some cases, the builder will make the repair, although he is not obligated to do so except when it is written into the contract. Usually, the home owner has to fix the cracks himself.

It is wise not to attempt the repair until the house has fully settled and the cracks are no longer spreading. One way to determine this is to mark the ends of the cracks with tiny pencil marks. Keeping an eye on these marks will enable you to know whether the cracks are getting longer. When they aren't, make the repairs.

(Patching concrete and plaster, replacing window panes and regluing wood veneer are among the subjects in Andy Lang's handbook, "Practical Home Repairs," which can be obtained by sending $1 to this newspaper at Box 5, Teaneck, N.J. 07666.)

Airlines Move To Pull Out Of Profits Dive

NEW YORK (AP) — U.S. airlines are taking drastic action to pull out of a profits dive that plunged them in 1970 to their worst financial performance.

Their efforts to reverse the trend range from eliminating some flights and dismissing employees to cutting out free newspapers and morning movies.

At the same time the airlines are stepping up their campaigns to attract more travelers.

The Air Transport Association estimates that the 12 major airlines—reeling under sharply rising costs and slower than expected passenger growth—suffered an aggregate loss of $123 million in 1970. This was in sharp contrast to a profit of $150 million in 1969.

For the first time since the introduction of jet service, the carriers are cutting back flight schedules to many cities, and for the first time in more than 10 years are furloughing and firing employees in an effort to curb costs.

Industry sources say the economic slowdown last year put the brakes on air travel by corporate executives, who had accounted for more than half of the airlines' passenger load. The clamp down on business travel not only kept executives out of the air but, when they did travel, shunted many of them from the first class section to the cheaper coach seats.

United Airlines and American Airlines announced this past week plans to reduce the number of their flights on some highly competitive long-haul routes as an economy move.

TWA said it cut its available seat miles by 4 per cent early this month.

Since total elimination of service between any two cities is not involved, the airlines don't need approval by the Civil Aeronautics Board to reduce the number of flights.

Airlines sales people say they plan to shift emphasis from the business traveler.

"The whole thrust of the future by the airlines will be to attract family vacation travel and to promote spur-of-the-moment short trips," an airline representative said.

Memory Molecules Synthesized

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — A scientist at Baylor College of Medicine says a molecule capable of transferring memory from one rat to another has been synthesized.

Dr. Georges Ungar said Thursday artificial reproduction of the memory molecule opens the door to unlocking the complex chemical language of learning.

He said that although he has used the memory transfer method only in rats he is "fairly certain" the same principle will work in man.

He said how soon the technique might be applied to humans will depend largely on how rapidly his research team gets "badly needed" funds.

Ungar, 64, a native of Hungary and professor of pharmacology in the anesthesiology department at Baylor, has been working on the memory molecule project almost three years.

He said the artificial substance is identical to a naturally occurring molecule responsible for memory transfer from one animal to another. He said it is less expensive and easier to make than to extract the natural molecule.

In his experiments, Ungar trained rats and mice to fear darkness although they normally seek dark places and are active at night.

This was accomplished by administering an electric shock each time the animals entered a darkened box. After a week of such shocks, Ungar extracted the brains of the animals and isolated the molecule associated with the induced response.

"The substance, injected into the bodies of mice which had never been subjected to such electric shocks, caused them to manifest the same fear of darkness," he said.

The next step was to produce the substance artificially. He was assisted in this phase by Dr. D.M. Lesiderio, assistant professor of chemistry at Baylor, and Dr. Wolfgang Parr, assistant professor of chemistry at the University of Houston. Parr accomplished the first artificial production of an identical substance last week.

effective challenge against President Nixon.

In territory like Ohio, Michigan and Wisconsin, Muskie's dominance is acknowledged even as leaders caution about the earliness of the hour and the absence of much really serious talk of 1972.

Crucial California is a bigger question mark. One experienced voter says Muskie is widely liked, "especially by the money guys." But the state's party leadership and office-holding lineup is more liberal than in many years, and moderate Muskie clearly has a lot of proving to do if he hopes to gain California's huge delegate bonanza.

South Dakota's allegiance to McGovern is unquestioned. I checked it to test for Muskie backup strength, with inconclusive results. Some think he must enter the state's primary just to show his daring.

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — The farmers were breaking ground for spring crops, and a blustering March wind slammed through the pines and tore at the loose soil. A lone figure struggling up a long, steep hill squinted at the red dust whipped into his eyes.

He had started to walk from the little sawmill town of Century in the far northwest corner of the Florida Panhandle. His destination, Key Largo, was 100 miles away on a crisscross route he had laid out for himself.

In between was the pressing heat of the Florida sun, sub-tropical downpours of rain, rattlesnakes, and cars and trucks hurtling recklessly down the

Mine Disaster Simulation Goes Very Well

GARY, W.Va. (AP) — Specialists mobilized into a rescue squad using space age technology Friday night within 50 feet of two men trapped 800 feet underground in a simulated mine disaster as a test of a revolutionary method of saving the lives of America's coal miners continues.

Slowed by the hazards of a snowy Appalachian mountain deep in rugged southern West Virginia, the crews drilled an eight inch hole with a 50-ton adapted oil rig through which they will pass life support supplies to the men underground.

"We've had a lot of problems because this is the first time this has ever been attempted," program director Bob Taber said Friday. "But it's gone real fine... you can say we're well pleased."

The technique being tested here in an abandoned portion of a giant U.S. Steel underground coal mine has been developed by Westinghouse Electric Corp. with a $3.5 million federal grant, using knowledge gleaned from space and undersea contracts.

When the eight-inch hole is completed late Friday or early Saturday, life support materials will be passed to the men below before a 26-inch hole is bored through which they will be lifted to the surface.

The goal is to save the lives of the hundreds of men who die yearly in underground coal mines when they become trapped by explosions and die because rescue crews cannot get life support supplies to them quickly enough.

This simulation began almost one week ago, and within 24 hours communications experts summoned from Colorado had found the men located in two separate locations by using electromagnetic waves through the earth and through the use of seismic blasts.

"Had this been a real emergency," Taber said, "we could have had the hole drilled to the men by Tuesday. But because it's a dress rehearsal, we've tested several systems along the way and have taken great care to avoid any possible trouble."

The toughest of conditions—hard rock mountains, the dead of winter and hard-to-travel roads—were selected for the simulation, a decision Taber says was a "wise one if we're to learn anything."

traffic-choked highways.

He was State Sen. Lawton Chiles, 40, stubborn, ambitious, and determined that at the end of the trail would be his private pot of gold — a seat in the Senate of the United States.

His opponents laughed about "Walkin' Lawton." While they were charming millions of voters on the TV tube, old Lawton would be out on that long, long road, getting himself nothing but blisters.

But when Chiles marched the last mile — tanned, flat-bellied and with a spring in his step he had not felt since his early youth — an admiring crowd waited to cheer him to the finish line.

Almost unknown outside his legislative district, he had set out on this unheard-of bunion derby to gain an identity. Along the way, he figured that he stood eye-to-eye with 50,000 voters. When it was over, his campaign uniform of walking boots, khaki pants and short-sleeved blue shirt was a familiar sight on almost every street and highway in Florida, and his name was a household word.

Floridians took warmly to a man with the guts to walk 1,000 miles to get what he wanted. They pushed him to a smashing, 2-1 victory in the Democratic primaries over former Gov. Farris Bryant, a tough oldtimer of the political wars.

And in the general election, the backing of President Nixon, Vice President Spiro Agnew and a long line of other Republican big guns couldn't save the 16-year congressional veteran, Bill Cramer, from the onslaught of "the walking senator."

Chiles had preached, and now he had proven, that a strong pair of legs and face-to-face talk with the people could beat a million-dollar campaign war chest, an ad agency image and television exposure.

"He showed us all," said one politician, "that from now on we've got to get out and walk. Question is, how many of us have got the stamina?"

"On TV, you're talking, not listening," said Chiles. "Instead

TRUMAN FEELING BETTER FRIDAY

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Former President Harry S. Truman was feeling better and experiencing no pain at Research Hospital late Friday.

Doctors said they hoped to learn within the next two days more of the nature of the abdominal ailment that caused the 86-year-old former president to be rushed to a hospital early Thursday. A medical bulletin issued at 4 p.m. EST briefing said Truman's condition remained good. "The former president is not experiencing pain," a statement said. "All test results known at present are within normal limits. We expect to continue testing through Tuesday at a pace which will not tire President Truman."

In response to questions, John Drevos, hospital public relation director, said "there is yet no prognosis on the former president's ailment, but they expect to have one in the next two days."

Dr. Wallace Graham, Truman's physician, has given no diagnosis.

Washington did its best to bail him out. Atty. Gen. John Mitchell and Martha came in to pitch for Cramer, as did Agnew.

"I read where President Nixon is coming down next to speak for Cramer. Well, I haven't walked with presidents or kings. But I have had the rare privilege of walking with the people of Florida."

"I met Mr. Nixon on the road the other day—Perry Nixon, that is. I told Mr. Nixon I was delighted to have his support."

As the campaign neared the finish, the other candidates were beginning to wilt. Chiles was growing physically stronger, getting up earlier every day and going later.

Then it was over and he was elected. But the walk hadn't ended. Chiles went back out on the highways, carrying a large sign. It said, "Thank You."

Figure Your Net Worth For A Bit Of Cheer

By Richard Putnam Pratt
The end of one year and the beginning of another has got to be the worst time from a budgeting point of view. All those Christmas bills tower over you like an avalanche about to let go. And those who like to think ahead can dimly perceive the approach of tax time.

If something of this sort has you depressed, one financial exercise might bring a smile to your face. It's called computing net worth.

In its simplest terms, net worth is what's left over if you subtract what you owe from what you own. In effect, it's the cash you would have left if you were forced to sell everything you owned.

It is the kind of calculation that businesses make regularly and, in one sense, running a household is not too different from running a small business.

Let's take the worst first, a listing of what you owe. You can start with those Christmas bills, if you want. But you will have to add payments still due on your car, installments still to come on furniture or appliances, and outstanding loans, if any.

And don't forget the balance on your mortgage, a sum that's bound to overshadow all the rest.

Now take a look at the other side: a totting up of the value of the things you own. You can start with your home, for example. Make the best guess possible as to its resale value. Remember that real estate prices have been rising, as much as $1,000 a year even on modest homes in many places.

Add to that the value of your car. You can probably guess, or you can check the want ads for current offers on similar models.

Then add together the current balances in your checking and savings accounts. Check the stock tables for a current reading on your investments. And add together the cash values on all family life insurance policies.

Throw in an estimate of what you have invested in furniture and appliances, and add up the works.

If you've done a thorough job, you can now subtract the first total from the second and come up with your own net worth.

That figure, whatever it is, tells how far ahead of the game you are. Whatever your debts, you've got that much cushion.

True, it would be hard to translate into actual cash, but there's no need for that. This is an exercise to brighten your outlook, remember?

The greatest value to be gained from figuring net worth is that it gives you a landmark. Do it every year, and the annual figures will chart your economic progress.

If by some remote chance, your net worth is a negative one, you're in trouble. It means that if anyone blows the whistle, you will be in bankruptcy.

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices shot ahead Friday in the heaviest trading ever recorded on the New York Stock Exchange.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials jumped 6.57 points to 861.31.

Big Board volume soared to 21.68 million shares, with the tape three minutes late at the closing bell. The previous record had occurred June 13, 1968, when 21.35 million shares had changed hands.

Thursday's volume was 19.06 million shares.

Analysts said the market was strong in anticipation of President Nixon's State of the Union address Friday night. Many said they thought the President would make some encouraging predictions about the economy.

The New York Stock Exchange index of some 1,200 common stocks was up 0.34 to 52.11. Of 1,693 stocks traded on the Big Board, 899 advanced, and 502 declined. There were 208 new highs and 2 new lows.

The Associated Press 60-stock average rose 2.2 to 302.0, a new 1970-71 high. Industrials were up 3.7, rails up 1.8, and utilities off 0.2.

Standard & Poor's 500-stock index closed at 94.88, up 8.63, a new 1970-71 high.

Stocks were generally higher in all categories except for rails and mail order-retail, which were mixed, and airlines, which were lower.

There were 135 blocks of 10,000 shares or over traded on the Big Board, compared with 119 on Friday. Largest was a 200,000-share block of May Department Stores at 35, up 1/4.

On the American Stock Exchange, the price change index climbed 0.09 to 23.93. Of the 1,156 stocks traded, 572 advanced and 373 declined. Amex volume totaled 5.63 million shares, up from 4.90 million shares Thursday.

LYNNVILLE C.W.F. MEETS AT HOME OF FRED GUNNELS

The January evening group meeting of the Lynnville Christian church C.W.F. was held January 13 at the home of Freda Gunnels. The meeting opened with prayer and a thank-you to the hostess. The study lesson was presented by Eileen Leavell, starting on a new study series entitled, "Created Male and Female." Devotions were in charge of Dorothy Fox.

The meeting proceeded to the business with minutes read and approved by the secretary, Joyce Heaton. A treasurer's report was read, including a record breaking Woman's Day of offering. Also read was a note from the Woodhaven Home, giving thanks for money sent in which they will use to purchase cool-mist vaporizers. Nancy Wynn, treasurer, reported that the group is in the process of purchasing Bibles for the four new members of the church: Eric Brown, Chuckie Buchanan, John Mason, and Beverly Wynn.

The next meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, February 3, at the home of Nancy Wynn, with study in charge of Joyce Heaton and devotions with Wilma Hembrough. The service project for the next meeting will be refugee material parcels which will include 12 parcels of three-yard pieces of material with needles and thread.

The meeting closed with C.W.F. benediction and followed with delicious refreshments served by hostess.

SOYBEAN FUTURES GAIN 2 1/2 CENTS

CHICAGO (AP) — Soybeans futures gyrated within a range of some 6 cents on the Chicago Board of Trade throughout the past week, then closed up to 2 1/2 cents under the previous week's last quotations.

Grain futures prices also were mostly lower for the five sessions.

When trade had ended for the week on Friday, soybeans futures were 1/4 to 2 1/4 cents a bushel lower, March 3.09 1/2; wheat futures were 1/4 to 2 1/4 cents lower, March 1.70 1/2; corn was 1/4 lower to 1/4 higher, March 1.57 1/2; and oats were 1/4 lower to 1/4 higher, March 78 1/2 cents.

The forces and issues which shape urban politics in contemporary America: political power and political organization in the central cities and the suburbs; metropolitan decentralization, federation, and consolidation; politics of taxation, employment, housing, education, law enforcement, public health, and transportation. Special attention to the role of Afro-Americans in our cities and the aggravation of the urban crisis by poverty and discrimination. The class will be conducted as a seminar and enriched by guest speakers and field trips. Prerequisite: Permission of instructor. Dr. Wolf D. Fuhrig, Associate Professor of Government. Class meets 7:00 to 9:00 p.m. Mondays and Wednesdays in Room 20, Main Hall. First class meeting, Monday, February 1.

MUSIC 321b — HISTORY OF MUSIC I, RENAISSANCE AND BAROQUE PERIODS (2 sem. hrs.)
An historical survey based on the development of musical forms, musical practices, and musical instruments, from 1400 to 1750. Along with lectures and actual musical performances, two texts will be used, Milner's "Man and His Music," and "Masterpieces of Music before 1750" by Parrish and Ohl, a guide book of actual music, each example having been recorded in an authentic performance. To augment recorded material, many examples will be performed on the organ and other early instruments by the teacher and student assistants. Prerequisite: Permission of instructor. Dr. Francis H. Hopper, Associate Professor of Music. Class meets 7:00 to 9:00 p.m. Mondays in Annie Merner Chapel. First class meeting, Monday, February 1.

PHILOSOPHY 308 — PHILOSOPHY OF RELIGION (4 sem. hrs.)
Is there any evidence that God does, or does not, exist? If there is evidence, is it of any significance for religious belief or the lack of belief? What is the meaning, if any, of religious doctrines about God? Should the fact of evil be a barrier to belief in God? These and related questions concerning religious belief will constitute the subject matter of this course. Readings and discussion of contemporary works dealing with these questions. No prerequisite. Dr. James A. Keller, Assistant Professor of Philosophy. Class meets 7:00 to 10:00 p.m. Wednesdays, Room 131, Main Hall. First class meeting, Wednesday, February 3.

PHILOSOPHY 311b — ETHICS AND THE HUMAN COMMUNITY (4 sem. hrs.)
Survey of the major philosophical approaches to ethics, with examination of such questions as: What is the essential value of life? What is right action? What is the value of a good social order? Special attention to current ethical problems occasioned by civil disobedience, cultural relativism, a changing sexual morality, and the psychological understanding of man. Prerequisite: Permission of instructor. Dr. Donald R. Buckley, Assistant Professor of Philosophy and Religion, and Acting Chaplain to the College. Class meets 7:00 to 10:00 p.m. Tuesdays in Room 131, Main Hall. First class meeting, Tuesday, February 2.

Polly's Pointers

Squeaky Bed Springs Need A Bit Of Oiling

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY—Like Mrs. S. I had the problem of a squeaky bed. My remedy was to remove the cross boards from the bed frame and buy metal clamps to hold the mattress. These can be purchased at a hardware store and, in my case, worked perfectly.—MRS. C.C.

DEAR GIRLS—Mrs. S.'s squeak was in box springs. The only advice I have been able to obtain is to feel around first to locate the spot of origin, mark it and then open the cover at that point. Wipe springs around the area with a light machine or motor oil, close opening and sew together. If you cannot localize the squeak, you might have to remove one side of the cover, shake it a bit, run a hand around until the squeak is located and then oil. Mrs. H.C.K. wrote that she refastened a removed cover with an upholstery stapler. This is not an easy nor foolproof undertaking.—POLLY

We can push our patient wherever we wish and ease her into a more comfortable chair when she likes. If we were purchasing such a chair new, we would buy an executive chair with arms but the lack of arms really has its advantages. We can turn this one in a small space and have the wheels remain stationary. It is satisfactory at a table, facilitates bathing, can be pushed anywhere with a minimum of effort. There are no big wheels to scratch, mar and manipulate. This secretary's chair has proven so satisfactory we are thinking of getting such chairs to use around our dining table. I do hope others can use this aid to the feeble.—SARAH

Trojans Take Third Crown In Row, 60-48

By BUFORD GREEN
Sports Editor

Triopia became the first team ever to sweep three straight Pike-Morgan-Scott-Cass Conference Tournament championships Friday night by turning back a good Chandlerville club 60-48 before a standing-room-only gathering at the Routh High school gymnasium.

The undefeated Trojans made it three in a row and four of the last five in the tournament by taking over in the second period and holding back repeated Comet comeback attempts, with some clutch free throw gunning the deciding factor in the final eight minutes.

Meredosia pulled away from Bluffs in the closing minutes behind the free throw shooting of Brian Surratt and clipped Bluffs 54-41 for third place in the meet as the Indians continued their recent improved play, especially in the loop turn-out.

Triopia, now 17-0 for the campaign, was behind for only the first three minutes when Chandlerville jumped to a 3-0 lead. Jim and Chris Nergenah and Bob Schnake pulled the Trojans back in front at 6-3, 9-5 and 11-7 and Roger Fricke hit three late points for a 14-8 count after eight minutes.

While Chandlerville was shooting only 33 per cent for the first half to Triopia's 48 per cent rate from the field, the eventual winners boosted their lead to 19-8 on a bucket by Jim Nergenah and a three-pointer by Bob Seymour. From there Seymour and Fricke matched buckets by Kim Kirchner and Chuck Barrett as the lead jumped between ten and 12 points. Dave Nelson hit two late ones for the Trojans to get them within 31-20 at intermission.

Nelson sat out most of the third frame with four fouls, but Kirchner and Barrett led a surge that got Chandlerville within 33-26 with five minutes to play in the quarter. Triopia again staved off the Comets with a pair of free throws and a bucket by Schnake and an 11-point bulge. Schnake and Seymour hit short shots in the final 30 seconds of the frame for a 41-29 spread eight minutes from the finish.

Chandlerville twice got within 11 early in the fourth before both Nelson and center Chuck Barrett fouled out, Barrett with 5:32 to play. Triopia, which hit 15 free throws out of 19 fourth quarter points, began its march to the charity stripe repeatedly and rose to the occasion. Seymour dropped in eight free tosses in the quarter and Fricke four.

Mike Boeker scored twice and Rod Atterberry had a string of six straight for the Trojans but the eventual runners-up never got closer than nine points, 55-46 with 1:30 showing when Clayton Carter also left with five personals.

The winners finished shooting 46.4 per cent from the field to the Comets' cold 34.0 per cent rate, and held a 33-19 board advantage, 11-7 offensively. Chandlerville, which also captured the tourney free throw crown with a 41-57 total, had only ten turnovers to 15 by the winners.

Fricke totaled 19, Seymour 18 and Schnake 13 to lead the winning Trojans, while Kirchner with 15, Atterberry with 13 and Barrett with ten topped the losers, now 12-5 for the season.

Free throws were the final difference in the scoring column in the third-place contest, with Meredosia canning 26 of 37 charity tries to 13 of 19 by Bluffs.

In a ball control first half, Meredosia jumped to an 8-4 lead at the quarter break and led 22-19 at intermission, with standout forward Dan Little pouring in 14 of the Indians' 22 points. The eventual winners never trailed, as 'Dosh jumped in front 7-0 behind Little and Bruce Loewy. The biggest lead of the second quarter was at 16-8 before Mike Williams brought the Bluejays back into contention at halftime.

Glen Welch got Bluffs to within 25-23 and 26-25 in the third quarter before Little scored the

King Boosts Pretzels Over Williamsville

NEW BERLIN — Ike King poured in 10 field goals and seven free throws for a high total 27 points to pace the host Pretzels to a 65-43 Sangamo Conference victory over Williamsville Friday night.

New Berlin, now 7-9 for the year and 2-4 in the Sangamo Conference, shot 43 per cent from the field with Williamsville close behind with a 41 per cent showing.

Both teams hit 25 field goals from the field with the difference in the game being two free throws as Williamsville sent the Pretzels to the line 24 times, while New Berlin committed 18 fouls.

John Fuchs and Perry Derosear added to the Pretzels scoring column with 12 and 11 points respectively.

In JHS Meet

Crimsons, Decatur Bag Opening Wins

By DENNIS RIEKEN

Easy victories were recorded Friday night by host Jacksonville High School and Stephen Decatur in the opening round of the Seventh Annual Jacksonville High School Four-team Tournament. Jacksonville defeated Edwardsville, 76-61, and Decatur tripped Chicago Austin, 75-63.

The tournament concludes today with an afternoon and evening session. Austin meets JHS at 12:30 and Decatur takes on Edwardsville at 2:15. Tonight it will be Edwardsville and Austin tangling at 7:00 and Jacksonville facing Decatur at 8:30.

Jacksonville, 7-7, held two important statistical advantages, field goal shooting and rebounding. The Crimsons outshot the Tigers 47.7 - 40.0 per cent from the floor and held a 39-22 rebounding advantage.

However, the whole story was told in the first half when Jacksonville racked up a 40-22 lead. The Crimsons were outscored in the second half, 39-26. Shooting an impressive 55 per cent from the field, JHS would have mounted a larger margin over the cold Tigers who managed only 26 per cent had it not been for 15 Crimson fouls which provided Edwardsville with 22 free throws.

As a result, Jacksonville was outscored at the free throw line, 10-4, while the Crimsons hit 18 field goals to the Tigers' six in the first half.

Jacksonville's biggest lead of the game was 24 points which it reached twice in the fourth period. Dave Lampitt hit a pair of free throws with six minutes to go making it 63-39 and center Ron Fairfield connected on two charity tosses with three minutes showing to make it 75-51.

Leland Wilson captured scoring honors in the contest with 22 points for the Crimsons. Fairfield added 16 points for JHS and Ed Aring recorded 14, 10 coming in the second half.

Guard Bill Mitchell led Edwardsville 8-6, with 20 points, 10 in the fourth quarter.

In a similar game scoring-wise, Decatur jumped to a large halftime lead, 47-28, largely on the strength of a second quarter rally. With 5:17 to go, Austin led 23-22 but then the Red press began to take its toll and Decatur outscored Austin 21-2 in the following three minutes.

Austin had nine turnovers in the quarter.

Decatur mounted its biggest lead of the game early in the fourth quarter, also, when it held leads of 66-37, and 68-39.

Both Decatur and Austin proved cold from the field. The Reds hit 38 per cent of their field goal attempts while Austin managed 35.5 per cent. The taller Austin gained a 40-35 rebounding edge but committed four more turnovers than Decatur.

High scorer in the game was Decatur guard Dick Phillips with 19 points, 15 in the first half. Darrell Lampkins was high for Austin with 14 points.

Rockets Down Hawks 66-59 At Winchester

By BOB HUGHES

WINCHESTER—Fifth seeded Rushville defeated its third straight Illinois Valley Conference opponent, number four rated Carrollton, 66-59, to win the 49th annual Winchester Tournament, Friday night.

According to the pre-tourney ratings it was the Rockets' third straight upset, previously beating first-seeded Calhoun and third-seeded North Greene, two other IVC powerhouses.

In the third place game, North Greene defeated host Winchester 73-50.

Rushville, now 12-3, put together fourteen straight points near the end of the first quarter and the start of the second to wrestle the lead for good and then used some of their patented fine free throw shooting in the fourth period to hold back Carrollton's comeback bid.

Shooting percentages for both teams were nearly even as the winners connected on 44 per cent of their tries while Carrollton hit 33-61 for 43 per cent.

Paced by Gene Tillitt, the Rockets held a slight 31-25 rebounding advantage but also forced 15 Hawk errors while only committing 10 themselves.

The early lead had been exchanged four times when rushville went on its 14-point spurt to take a 25-12 lead midway through the second period. Steve Ewing accounted for six of the points while the high-jumping Tillitt added another four. Carrollton regrouped to hit three straight fielders to cut the margin back to 25-18 but a rebound basket by Tillitt along with another bucket by Kent Drawve pushed the lead back to eleven where it stayed the rest of the half.

With Ewing and Dave Grueter exchanging buckets much of the third period, both teams played on even terms all through this quarter and for the first four minutes of the final stanza before Carrollton made its mild rally.

Baskets by Roger Adcock and Ed Roundcount cut the margin to eight with 3:20 remaining. There was still time, but four straight free throws by Neal Settles kicked the margin up to twelve and the final margin was the closest Carrollton got.

Rushville had only one bucket in the final eight minutes but converted 15 free ones of which Settles had seven and Mark Robertson six.

Ewing led the Rocket attack with 18, while Grueter paced the losers, now 10-5, with the same total.

The North Greene-Winchester third place battle was decided in the middle two quarters as the Spartans outscored the hosts 44-18 in the sixteen minute span. Dominating most of the game underneath, the winners were able to get a fine fast break working numerous times, along with solid offensive rebounding which led to second and third shots.

Gene Davis, 6-3, and 6-4 John Neff combined for 33 of the winner's points in pacing the attack while Mark Raabe led the losers with 18.

North Greene clicked on nearly fifty per cent of the field goal attempts while the losers could do no better than a 34 per cent showing from the floor. The Spartans controlled the boards 39-32 with both teams committing a rash of turnovers totaling 51 in all.

North Greene now reads 10-4 for the year with Winchester falling to 6-8.

Early Margin Lifts Canton By Saukees

PITTSFIELD — Canton took the early lead with a strong first half and then held back a determined Pittsfield comeback from behind effort to post a final 71-68 non-conference victory over the Saukees Friday night.

Jim Jenkins with 19 points was the leading scorer for the Pittsfield club, followed by Jay Carlton with 16 points, Gene Myers with 13 and Bruce Calender with 10.

Robert Sparks Mac's 75-69 Win

TERRE HAUTE, Ind.—With MacMurray down by five points with less than five minutes to play, Robert Sparks came off the bench for the Highlanders and scored seven straight points to spark Mac to a final 75-69 victory over Centre College of Danville, Ky., in the Rose-Hulman Tournament Friday night.

The victory boosts MacMurray, now 6-8, into the finals to-night at 9 p.m. against the winner of the Rose-Hulman vs. Pace College game.

Centre held a 45-38 halftime lead over the Highlanders, shooting a hot 50 per cent from the field in the first half while Mac shot 39 per cent in the initial half. The Highlanders returned at halftime to hit 46.9 per cent from the field and ended the evening with a 42 per cent average, with Centre going cold in the final period as it shot only 33 per cent and ended the night with a 46 per cent overall average.

Leading scorer for MacMurray was Mike Zimmers with 21 points, followed by Jim Hawkins with 13 points and Robert with 11. Zimmers also paced the Highlanders defensively as he grabbed off 18 rebounds.

Former NBA Aces Are Key In ABA Tilt

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — The war between the two leagues is expected to play a big part in the final game Saturday when the American Basketball Association takes the pro basketball spotlight with its fourth annual All-Star game. The West rules a slight favorite over the East.

No less than five former players in the rival National Basketball Association, including former NBA All-Stars Joe Caldwell, Rick Barry and Zelmo Beaty, will be in this game. But the greatest star in the ABA's brief history, Spencer Haywood, will be missing.

Haywood, the ABA's Rookie of the Year and Most Valuable Player last season who also was the All-Star game's MVP, will be in Seattle with the SuperSonics of the NBA. The young center jumped to the NBA recently after a contract dispute with Denver of the ABA and a federal court panel Wednesday took under advisement a request for an injunction that would keep him there at least until a trial on his anti-trust suit March 2.

The ABA, instead, will be relying on its own defectors to add color to this growing spectacular that will be televised on CBS at 2 p.m. EST for the second straight year.

Caldwell's presence was assured only this week by a court ruling that he could stay with Carolina of the ABA after jumping earlier in the season from Atlanta of the NBA.

The 6-foot-5 jumping jack, an NBA All-Star last year in his seventh season in that league, has been averaging 22.9 points a game for the Cougars.

Beatty, a former teammate of Caldwell at Atlanta, will start at center for the taller and more experienced West. The 6-9 two-time NBA All-Star has been averaging 23.9 points and 15.9 rebounds per contest for Utah in his first year in the ABA.

Barry was the first name player to jump leagues, stunning the NBA by sitting out the 1967-68 season and then playing the following year in the ABA. Although the former NBA scoring champion has been bothered most of his ABA career with injuries, including the first part of this season, he has led the league in scoring and has averaged 25.8 points a game this year for the New York Nets.

Also on the East squad are Bill Melchionni of the Nets and Neil Johnson of the Virginia Squires, former reserves in the NBA.

Adding to the NBA flavor are the two coaches, Bill Sharman of Utah for the West and Al Bianchi of Virginia for the East. Sharman is a former NBA All-Star and even coached the NBA West one season, along with doing the television color commentary for the All-Star games in each league. Bianchi also is a former NBA player and coach.

Beatty and Caldwell will be in the starting lineups for the game that is expected to draw the first sellout crowd in the newly-expanded 15,000-seat Greensboro Coliseum.

Joining Beatty for the West, which has won this game the past two seasons, will be Bob Netolicky and Roger Brown of Indiana, Larry Cannon of Den-

Lowest Rounds In PGA History At Phoenix Open

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Veteran Gene Littler led the way Friday as golf's touring pros completed the two lowest rounds in the history of the PGA tour in the $125,000 Phoenix Open.

The 40-year-old Littler had an eight-under-par 63 for 129 and was tied at that figure with gray-haired Paul Harney and Miller Barber.

Harney, a club pro from Sutton, Mass., and the 39-year-old Barber matches 64s on the flat little Arizona Country Club course for a share of the second-round lead.

The 129 for 36 holes was three-over the PGA record held by several players, but the incredible 137 it took to make the cut for the final two rounds was the lowest ever.

The previous low score for a cut was 140, in the Memphis Open last year and in this event two years ago.

Under the rules for PGA co-sponsored events, the field is trimmed to the low 70s scores and all players tied for 70th position for the final two rounds Saturday and Sunday.

Prominent casualties here included defending champion Dale Douglass and former PGA champion Ray Floyd.

Bob Lunn, winner of the Los Angeles Open two weeks ago, slipped to a 66 and was alone in fourth place at 130, 12-under-par on the 6,477-yard desert course.

Tied at 131 were Hale Irwin, a former football star at Colorado, Australian Bruce Crampton, Dave Hill, Howie Johnson and Don Massengale.

Irwin had a 65, while Hill, Crampton and Johnson took 66s and Massengale a 67.

ver and Donnie Freeman of Texas.

Completing the squad are Mel Daniels of Indiana, Jimmy Jones, Steve Jones and rookie Wendell Ladner of Memphis and Red Robbins, Ron Boone and Glen Combs of Utah.

For the East, along with Caldwell, are John Brisker of Pittsburgh, Mack Calvin of the Floridians and rookies Dan Isel of Kentucky and Charlie Scott of Virginia.

Barry, Melchionni and Johnson will be joined on the bench by George Carter of Virginia, Cincy Powell of Kentucky, Mike Lewis of Pittsburgh and Larry Jones of the Floridians.

The East has the top four scorers in the league in Isel, 28.8; Calvin, 28.8; Brisker, 28.4; and Scott, 27.12, but the West has the size in Netolicky, 6-9, 10 rebounds a game; Beatty, and Daniels, 6-9, the league's leading rebounder, 18.3.

Bay Area QB's Start In Pro Bowl

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The San Francisco Bay area will present starting rival quarterbacks in the National Football League Pro Bowl struggle Sunday.

That would be John Brodie of the 49ers, a 14-year veteran in the NFL for the National Conference, and Daryle Lamoniaca of Oakland, eight years in pro ball, for the American Conference.

Standing by as alternates in this inaugural conflict between the new divisions of the merged NFL and AFL are Bob Griese of the Miami Dolphins behind Lamoniaca and Fran Tarkenton of the New York Giants of the NFC.

Both Lamoniaca and Brodie have the proper credentials. Brodie completed 223 of 378 passes—59.0 per cent—for 2,941 and 24 touchdowns, with only 10 interceptions.

Lamoniaca completed 179 of 356 passes—50.3 per cent—for 2,516 yards and 22 touchdowns, with 15 interceptions.

Brodie's pass-targets Sunday will include Carroll Dale of the Green Bay Packers, Dick Gordon of the Chicago Bears, the NFC's leading receiver, and a pair of Washingtons, Gene of the Minnesota Vikings and Gene of the 49ers.

Lamoniaca can unload throws to Marlin Briscoe of the Buffalo Bills, the AFC's leading receiver; Gary Garrison of the San Diego Chargers, Paul Warfield of Miami and Warren Wells of the Raiders.

While the aerial attack may be potent, both squads have a wealth of running talent.

Oakland Coach John Madden, who will pilot the AFC, can call on Denver's Floyd Little, the AFC leader with a net of 977 yards; Cleveland's Leroy Kelly, a veteran of five Pro Bowl games, and power runners Herwig Dixon of Oakland and Miami's Larry Csonka.

The NFC coach, Dick Nolan of San Francisco, has such ball carriers as Larry Brown of the Washington Redskins and Ron Johnson of the Giants, the only NFL rushers to gain over 1,000 yards; MacArthur Lane of the St. Louis Cardinals, Mel Farr of the Detroit Lions and Dave Osborn of the Minnesota Vikings.

Scotties Take 78-66 Victory Via St. James

SPRINGFIELD — Waverly High school jumped to a 40-25 halftime lead and held off a last quarter rally to defeat St. James Trade School Friday night, 78-66.

Waverly is now 3-11 while St. James is winless in 18 games.

Jim Cour captured scoring honors with 21 points for St. James. Dave Copelin paced the Scotties with 19 points.

Oakland Nucleus Of AFC's Squad

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Quarterback Daryle Lamoniaca and five Oakland Raider teammates will form the starting nucleus of the American Conference offensive unit in the National Football League's Pro Bowl game Sunday.

The National Conference defensive unit includes a "dream front four" of Carl Eller and Alan Page of the Minnesota Vikings, Bob Lilly of the Dallas Cowboys and Deacon Jones of the Los Angeles Rams.

The front four could have been dreamier but the Rams' Merlin Olsen, selected for the Pro Bowl for the ninth straight year, underwent knee surgery and had to bow out.

The AFC offense and NFC starters were disclosed Thursday. Their opposite factions will be announced Friday.

Lamoniaca's supporting cast from the Raiders at kickoff time at 4 p.m. EST will be running back Hewitt Dixon, tight end Raymond Chester, wide receiver Warren Wells, center Jim Otto and right tackle Harry Schuh.

The striking force also includes Gary Garrison at wide receiver from the San Diego Chargers and running back Leroy Kelly of the Cleveland Browns.

Rounding out the offense will be the Kansas City Chiefs' Ed Budde at left guard and Jim Tyrer at left tackle and San Diego's Walt Sweeney at right guard.

Raider Coach John Madden, in charge of the AFC, admitted he had a problem pruning through all the talent at hand, as did the NFC boss, Nick Nelson of the San Francisco 49ers.

Nolan's defense includes three Vikings—Eller, Page and Karl Kasulke at left safety. The Dallas Cowboys placed two starters, Lilly and Mel Renfro at right cornerback.

The Cardinals' Larry Wilson will open at right safety and Jimmy Johnson of San Francisco at left safety to round out the defense.

There was mild surprise over the selection of Leroy Kelly over, for instance, Denver's Floyd Little or Larry Csonka of the Miami Dolphins, primarily because Kelly was injured and missed some regular season games. However, Kelly is a veteran of previous Pro Bowl Games.

2 Big Ten Unbeatens Vie Today

CHICAGO (AP) — Semester exams may be lulling the Big Ten basketball race generally, but Saturday's two-game program involves two of the four unbeaten conference contenders, Michigan and Ohio State.

The Wolverines and surprising Buckeyes, each with 2-0 league marks, will be challenged in road engagements by winless contenders.

Enigmatic Minnesota (0-3) is hot to this state, led by sophomore Alan Hornyak, in a regionally televised matinee.

Michigan, roaring behind sophomore Henry Wilmore to victory in eight of its last nine games, makes a Saturday night appearance at Northwestern, also anchored with an 0-3 Big Ten record.

"We have to win on the road if we are to remain in this race," said Wolverine Coach Johnny Orr, whose club stamped itself a strong contender with last Saturday's home upset of Indiana, 92-81.

Conference action doesn't pick up again until Jan. 30 and the other two undefeated leaders at 3-0, Illinois and Purdue, are safe until Tuesday, Feb. 2, when the Boilermakers have a tough test at Michigan and the Illini visit Iowa.

Ohio State, regarded as a middle-of-the-pack prospect in pre-season ratings, has been a distinct surprise. Led by Hornyak, averaging 25.5 in league play, 7-foot soph Luke Witte and veteran Jim Clemons, the Buckeyes already have won impressively over Iowa (97-76) and Wisconsin (83-69).

"They really blew us off the court and may be a lot stronger than we thought," said Iowa rookie Coach Dick Schultz.

Duchon, Gum Spark Bluejays To 68-44 Win

PAWNEE — Breaking an 18-1 tie early in the second quarter, Porta scored nine straight points to jump ahead for good and top host Pawnee 68-44 in a game played Friday night.

Porta, now 15-2, shot 45 per cent for the night, while Pawnee, now 3-11, shot 37 per cent from the field.

Brent Manning took high point honors for Pawnee with 16 points.

THE DOCTOR SAYS Proper Medical Regimen Will Help Ulcer Victims

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.
One of the basic principles in treating a peptic ulcer is to neutralize the acid-pepsin juice. Milk, baking soda and other home remedies have this effect. The amount of acid generated by the stomach can be enormous and it is important to take enough antacid medicine to fully neutralize it. The usual mistake is not taking enough long enough. The patient gets relief from his pain and stops taking the medicine his doctor prescribed.

No one antacid is ideal but those prepared from aluminum hydroxide either in tablet or liquid form with other ingredients are the best. These will not overdo the job and cause the body chemistry to become too alkaline, creating other problems.

Baking soda taken in large amounts can be harmful. The rule is, take lots of antacid, take it regularly and don't stop until the doctor tells you to. The amount one person needs to take may greatly exceed the amount another person needs. The difference is in how much acid-pepsin juice the stomach forms.

The second type of medicine used in treating ulcers acts by inhibiting the stomach from forming too much digestive juice. These usually chemically block the nerve to the stomach and often cause dryness of the mouth if they are effective. You need a doctor's prescription for these.

Although less attention is paid to diet these days, with more reliance on drugs, it is important. A bland diet, devoid of spicy foods, does help. Because a lot of emphasis is put on using milk and cream, it is important to warn against eating too much of the saturated fats. Skim milk has just as much protein and avoids the problem. Many patients with ulcers develop high cholesterol and other medical difficulties, including excessive weight gain because care was not taken to avoid overloading with saturated fat.

The caffeine in coffee stimulates the formation of acid-pepsin juice. Coffee should be eliminated entirely. A coffee substitute free of caffeine may be used. Colas and other stimulating drinks should also be eliminated.

With proper care an ulcer patient can take most medicines but the indiscriminate use of aspirin is harmful. Ulcer patients should only take it with an antacid tablet and just after eating, never on an empty stomach.

Cigarette smokers have far more ulcers than nonsmokers and it is better if this habit is discontinued.

Alcohol irritates both the lining of the digestive tract and stimulates the formation of acid-pepsin juice.

Attention to the emotional and stressful aspects of the patient's life is important, too. If life situations are improved adequately and a proper medical regimen followed, most people can be helped. There may be remissions but these can be minimized if the above principles are followed.

Harriet Beecher Stowe, American novelist, wrote under the pen name of Christopher Crowfield.

Harry Fishbein of New York plunked his ace of clubs on East's king and remarked, "I ain't going to take no finesses today."

Harry can speak excellent English any time he wants to, but as he remarked when the hand was over and he had won the rubber, "What do you think? Good grammar or good play?" At trick two Harry led the five of diamonds and played dummy's eight. East won with the jack and led a club to his partner's queen.

West shifted to the jack of hearts and Harry was on lead with the ace. He played a couple of rounds of trumps being careful to leave the queen of trumps in dummy. Then he led his last diamond and went up with dummy's ace. This dropped East's king and all Harry had to do to win the game and rubber was to ruff a diamond; enter dummy with that nice queen of trumps and discard two hearts on the last two diamonds. He still had to lose one heart trick but that gave the defense a total of just three tricks which was not enough for their purposes.

If Harry had tried the diamond finesse, he would have wound up one trick short.

West was marked with the queen of clubs by his club raise and the play to the first trick. Remember the code word ARCH where A stands for Analyze the lead and R for Review the bidding?

It was almost a sure thing that East would hold the king of diamonds for his opening bid.

The hand could still be made if diamonds were to break 3-

3. Harry's play gave the extra chance of winning against king-small in the East hand.

CHURCH SENSE

The bidding has been:
West North East South
1 ♠ Dble 2 ♠ Pass
4 ♠ 4 N.T. Pass ?

You, South, hold:
♠ 7 4 3 ♥ J 9 8 6 ♦ K 10 4 3 ♣ 4 7

What do you do now?
A—Just bid five diamonds. If your partner is a very conservative expert you might bid five no-trump to get him to slam. Of course, if he bids six clubs over your five no-trump, you will go to six diamonds.

TODAY'S QUESTION
Your partner doubles a one-heart bid. You hold:
♠ 7 4 3 ♥ J 9 8 6 ♦ K 10 4 3 ♣ 4 7
What do you do?

ASHLAND YOUTH PASTOR TO WED

ASHLAND — An announcement has been made of the engagement of Robert Lowery, youth minister at the local Church of Christ, and Miss Marilyn Gaddis of Lincoln. Plans are being made for a wedding this coming summer.

Recent dinner guests of Mrs. Bernice Hayes were her aunt, Mrs. Edna M. Scheffler, and daughter, Cynthia Ambuhl of Mt. Zion. Mrs. Scheffler is the former Edna Smith of Ashland. Mr. and Mrs. Len Bernhardt of Chicago were weekend guests of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bast, and other relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. William Bast spent the weekend in Chicago at the home of their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Hedlund and children. Holly Hedlund, who has been visiting here with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Bast, returned home.

Henry Ring, who has been a patient in the Norris hospital in Jacksonville for several days, has returned home.

Mrs. Ora Ruble and infant daughter have returned home from the Memorial hospital in Springfield.

Mrs. General (Genevieve) Guffey and Mrs. Pearl Lynn, who have been medical patients in Memorial hospital, Springfield, for several days, returned to their respective homes here the fore part of this week, and Mrs. Roberta Potter, who has been a surgical patient in St. John's hospital, has returned home.

BOY AND SLED went their separate ways near Wilmington, Del., when youngsters went into the hill instead of over it.

U.S. Treasury Notes

Any "in" a coin columnist may have with the Treasury Department must be credited almost entirely to the news release services provided through various bureaus. Coinage developments originate with the Bureau of the Mint and matters concerning our paper currency come from the U.S. treasurer's office.

In wrapping up Treasury activities for 1970 three news items worthy of reviewing were called to our attention by Miss Dona Arsdale, administrative assistant to Dorothy Andrews Kabis, U. S. treasurer.

New Signature Currency
For the first time in the history of U.S. currency a name change has been made in the lower left-hand corner of our paper money while the treasurer remained in office. The new bills issued just prior to Christmas bear the signatures of David M. Kennedy, secretary of the Treasury, and Dorothy Andrew Kabis, treasurer.

Prior to her marriage to Walter L. Kabis, chairman of Delaware's Air and Water Resource Commission, the treasurer's name appeared as Dorothy Andrew Elston. The 1969 Series Elston-Kennedy notes replaced the 1963-B Joseph W. Barr notes June 4, 1969.

Money, a Token of Love
Every year thousands of contributions pour into Mrs. Kabis' office from citizens as "a token of love and appreciation for their country." As treasurer, Mrs. Kabis is responsible by law for receipt, custody and disbursement of all public money, and she reports that to date over $46 million has been donated to the government by citizens giving thanks for this great nation and for what it stands.

To cite a few of the instances: A few months ago $293.03 arrived at the treasurer's office in a brown paper bag. Another lady wrote that she could never have "peace" until her contribution of $30 was in the treasurer's hands.

Another citizen, born in 1897, sent the treasurer $1 for "every year I have been privileged to be an American citizen." The check arrived on his birthday.

Christmas Leftovers For Green Thumb Buffs

Editor's Note—The question of what to do with Christmas poinsettias is one that is asked each season. An article appearing in SCOPE, published by Jacksonville State Hospital, appears to be one of the easiest solutions for anyone who has a "green thumb." The suggestions concerning the maintenance and cultivation of poinsettias were passed on by William Sims of the grounds department of the hospital.

In the home, poinsettias require a uniform temperature of from 60 to 75 degrees Fahrenheit; always reduce the thermostat setting at night.

Place the poinsettia in bright light (but not direct sun) where the air is not too dry. If placed in a window, the plant should be removed at night if there is danger of chilling.

Soil moisture should be maintained at moderate and uniform levels, neither too wet nor too dry.

The average length of life in the home is two to three weeks.

Poinsettias are sensitive plants and often disappoint people because they do not get proper care. Drafts, too cool or too warm temperatures, sudden temperature changes, dry atmosphere, improper watering and dim light can cause loss of leaves and withering of bracts. The poinsettia is one of the most difficult plants to rebloom, but it is the one most often attempted.

After the bracts and leaves have fallen off, start drying the plant. Store dried-off plants in a cool (50 degrees) dry, light place until May. Water lightly, just enough to keep the roots and stems from drying out excessively.

In May, prune the stems to about six inches—start watering; fertilize and place outdoors in June. Keep the tips pinched off until early September. Then bring the plant into the house, place it in a sunny window and keep it watered and fertilized.

A poinsettia responds to day-length, and is known as a short-day (or long-night) plant; be sure it gets no light from sundown to sunup.

Even short periods of lighting at night may be enough to prevent or interfere with flowering. If the plant is to be grown in a room that is lighted nightly, cover it at dusk with a heavy paper bag, a piece of opaque black cloth or other light-tight cover, or put it in a dark closet. Remove covering from the plant or the plant from the closet at about 8 a.m. The poinsettia requires 14 hours of complete darkness from October 10 until color shows, usually around Thanksgiving.

REFUGE IN VIETNAM

Vietnamese refugee feeds her baby sister with canned milk from A.I.D.—and a big smile.

Tented refugee camp in South Vietnam.

Temporary shelter for refugees: their makeshift home is in a barracks at the Dong Tam military base.

After the flight from Cambodia, Vietnamese children begin to play again at their temporary home at Dong Tam.

The tides of war and political conflict in South East Asia have swept many helpless civilians back and forth like so much driftwood. Vietnamese refugees from Cambodia have joined the numbers of those whose lives have been violently disrupted by circumstances beyond their control.

The refugees are ethnic Vietnamese who had lived all their lives in what was, according to rather artificially drawn political boundaries, actually part of Cambodia. Events in Cambodia caused some 200,000 of them to decide to abandon their homes and flee to South Vietnam.

They are now housed in about 20 camps scattered throughout South Vietnam. The Vietnamese Ministry of Social Welfare is helping to supply their basic needs—food, shelter, clothing and medical supplies. A.I.D. (the U.S. Agency for International Development) is providing Food for Peace commodities and technical assistance from U.S. refugee advisors, who work closely with the government.

Now life for the refugees will have to be started all over again. For those families who can make their own arrangements there are resettlement programs which enable them to move out of the camps and which give them travel and resettlement allowances.

Neighboring Vietnamese villagers are offering the refugees whatever assistance they can, too. And there's plentiful help in the form of manpower at the camps, from Vietnamese government agencies as well as from U.S. and international voluntary organizations.

This Week's PICTURE SHOW—AP Newsfeatures.

A very basic need is satisfied, and life goes on.

A.I.D. refugee coordinator Eugene Reardon talks to children at the refugee camp in Cao-Lanh.

JACQUELINE SUSANN BACK TO ACTING — BRIEFLY
From Broadway to Hollywood with a couple of stops on the best-seller list is the route that authoress and former actress
Jacqueline Susann has taken

TWIN TINY TIMS — It is suspected that Tiny Tim has a big stake in this show. That's Tiny (left), as we all know him—the popular long-haired singer of unusual style and song. That's also Tiny (right), his hair slicked down, his face white and his cape black and long as the suspected monster in "Love and the Vampire" on ABC's "Love, American Style" 9-10 p.m. Friday, Jan. 29.

as she makes a rare television acting appearance in a guest role on "Mannix," Saturday, Jan. 30, (9-10 p.m.) in color on the CBS Television Network.
Miss Susann gave up her acting career to pursue a career in writing, and two of her results were best-selling novels: "The Valley of the Dolls" and "The Love Machine."

ANCHOR MAN FOR CBS SUNDAY NEWS

CBS News White House Correspondent Dan Rather has been named anchor man of the CBS Sunday News.
The CBS Sunday News with Dan Rather is broadcast Sunday nights (10-10:15 p.m.), live and in color, on the CBS Television Network. Hal Haley is the producer.

BALLET TECHNIQUES
DISCUSSED

Production techniques will be discussed by choreographer Maurice Bejart and demonstrated in performances by his company, The Ballet of the Twentieth Century, in the second part of "Prospectives on Maurice Bejart" on "Camera Three" Sunday, Jan. 24, (10-10:30 a.m.) in color on the CBS Television Network.

Bejart and author-critic Fabian Bowers continue the discussion they began on the January 17 broadcast and explore the choreographer's interest in creating fusion between disparate strands of the world's artistic possibilities—combining Wagnerian and Hawaiian music, relating Baudelaire to Bob Dylan, and juxtaposing a classic Indian love story with a representation of modern Brussels, where the ballet company is based.

GOLD MEDAL
AWARD VOTED TO LUCILLE BALL

Lucille Ball will receive the 12th annual Gold Medal Award of the International Radio and Television Society at its 31st anniversary dinner Thursday, March 11, in the Grand Ballroom of the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel in New York.

The award, "for achievement in or contribution to broadcasting," was voted to the star of "Here's Lucy," broadcast Mondays at 7:30-8 p.m. on the CBS Television Network, "in recognition not only of the talent that has made her one of television's most popular entertainers but also of her abilities as an executive and organizer," Mr. Pinkham said.

The Gold Medal Award was established by the Society in 1959 and has been given, in order, to General David Sarnoff, President John F. Kennedy and President Richard M. Nixon, Dr. Frank Stanton, Bob Hope, Leonard Goldenson, Rosel H. Hyde, Edwin W. Ebel, Robert W. Sarnoff, the CBS, ABC and NBC news departments, Ed Sullivan and "Rowan and Martin's Laugh-In." In addition, a special award was given at last year's dinner to the Apollo 11 astronauts and was accepted by astronaut Neil Armstrong.

NEWS TEST
FOR YOUNG PEOPLE

A CBS News test for young people, "Kids!—53 Things to Know about Health, Sex and Growing Up," will be broadcast Wednesday, Jan. 27, (6:30-7:30 p.m.) in color on the CBS Television Network. CBS News Correspondent Charles Kuralt will be the reporter.

The broadcast will answer questions about some of the subjects young people themselves consider most important—drugs, physical fitness, sex and dating, music, sports, dress and appearance, and the kinds of foods they eat. It is directed primarily at the pre-teen and early teen-age groups.

Governor's Daughter Makes Dean's List

By JOAN CROSBY

LOS ANGELES (NEA)—She's a tall, bubbling, intelligent real-life version of The Governor and J.J. and she's not about to be canceled.

Maureen Reagan, the attractive daughter of Governor Ronald Reagan, says The Governor and J.J. was one of her favorite shows.

"It wasn't too true to life, but it made politics human," she says. "I remember when I was a kid Dad used to go riding with Dan Dailey." (Dailey starred as the governor.)

Maureen is a singer but feels her career has been held back because she became known politically before she became known as a performer.

She will make a TV appearance on The Dean Martin Show, set for NBC-TV Jan. 28, in a program devoted to the second generation. Maureen, soon to be 30, travels both as USO entertainer and as a delegate representing the United States to Vietnam and Russia. She was with a group called the distinguished Delegation of American Women. She found Russia depressing.

"They are very defensive people who have an extreme inferiority complex," she says. "It's a country of 240 million well-educated, misinformed peasants. I've never liked or trusted Communists. Now I'm afraid of them."

Maureen greatly resembles her mother, actress Jane Wyman, particularly in the small, turned-up nose.

"Mother recently called me and asked me to go with her to pick up a Christmas tree," muses Maureen. "She said she couldn't use her car. Mother drives a Rolls-Royce and I drive a Cougar. I said, 'You mean you don't want to use your car.' And she admitted she didn't want pine needles all over it."

"Mother also came to my new apartment and brought silver polish to polish all my silver. Then she took what polish was left home, so that her maid could do hers."

She may be California's First

Daughter, but Maureen is also an unpretentious young lady. On a trip to New York, she took four blouses for a suit she wore on the plane, and one silk dress for dressy occasions. "Everywhere I went," she says, "people were changing so as not to outdress me."

Posh places don't intrigue her: "If they say a restaurant is the poshest in town, I know it will take two and a half hours for dinner and my butt gets tired sitting that long."

She says she has decided "I'm a snob in that I hate snobs."

Maureen, who is eminently quotable, would be a great hostess on a talk show, but she says that because of her family affiliation "I'm persona non grata."

She was on a local TV talk show, Tempo.

"I was the resident reactionary," she says. "After two weeks they fired me. When I didn't leave the people I was interviewing bleeding on the floor, they let me go. With some of these poor inferiors the Democrats sent over to be interviewed, it would have been inhuman of me."

DIANA HYLAND IN "INTERNS" EPISODE

Diana Hyland plays a hard-bitten woman writer in an episode of "The Interns" filmed for broadcast this season on the CBS Television Network. Singer-actor John Davidson plays her seriously ill brother, and Pat Harrington appears in a recurring role as the hospital public relations director.

MOVIES THURSDAY

- (4) (7) (31)—8:00 Movie — "Return to Peyton Place." Carol Lynley, Jeff Chandler.
- (2)—10:30 Movie — "Five Golden Hours." Cyd Charisse, Ernie Kovacs. Professional mourner who consoles rich widower devises scheme to make him rich and bring him the love of most beautiful witch ever to bedevil a man.
- (11)—10:30 Movie — "Where the Sidewalk Ends." Dana Andrews, Gene Tierney. Detective becomes involved with girl during murder case and finds himself accidentally committing a murder.
- (31)—10:31 Movie — "Dark Venture." John Carradine, John Calvert, Ann Cornwell. American adventurer in Africa seeks ivory treasure in elephant's graveyard and discovers man who has been guarding it for 20 years.
- (4)—12:00 Movie — "The Postman Always Rings Twice." Lana Turner, John Garfield.
- (17)—12:05 Movie — "Ten Men from West Point." George Montgomery, Maureen O'Hara.

The Goody Family: What Fiction!

A Florida reader says, "Dear Betty, I often cut your column out of the paper and put it on the table for my husband and teenagers to read. Sometimes I cut it out of the paper and throw it away so they won't read it. For example, the one where you mentioned two sisters shoving each other in the kitchen! That's terrible! I like to think of sisters as being loving and kind. Can't you write about people who are always good to each other?"

Of course I can write about people who are always good to each other!

Once upon a time there was a family. The father was good and the son was good and the daughter was good. The mother was perfect. Well, almost perfect. Sometimes she put a wee bit too much sugar in when she was making apple sauce.

Father never came in from the office and snarled, "Turn down that blasted guitar!" And he never went to sleep on the sofa while mother was trying to tell him about the interesting telephone conversation she had had that day.

Mother, needless to say, never repeated a really interesting conversation—such as the one she overheard between her husband's secretary and her husband's employer the day they arranged to meet at that bar at the edge of town. A good mother never repeats gossip.

As you might suspect, this good mother also never forgot to turn on the oven. And that kept her from never saying to her family, "Sorry, you guys, it's either raw roast beef or baloney sandwiches for dinner!"

The good children, naturally never had a shoving match in the kitchen when they were supposed to be washing dishes.

The good boy never had his amplifier turned so high the vibrations loosened the roots of 12 oak trees and three of his mother's molars. He never slogged through the mud. He never forgot to do his homework and never got into trouble at school because he certainly wouldn't do anything so ugly as write, "Mary Jane Susskind is a fat nut!" all over the blackboard.

The good girl would never have thought of leaning over a bowl of cake batter while brushing her hair. Of course, even if she had done so, her mother would never explode and call the girl an unthinking, careless slob. Heavens, no! She'd just smile and use the batter to make lots of little cakes for the good birds who lived in the sturdy oak trees in the back yard.

This whole family smiled a lot. Father smiled instead of cursing when he caught his finger in the garage door. Mother smiled instead of crying when she discovered she had gained 10 pounds. The children smiled and never hissed, "Shut up! This whole thing sounds almost too good to be true, doesn't it?"

Confirm Identity Of Chapin Victim As Navy Deserter

The identity of a young man who perished in a fire near Chapin last Sunday morning was confirmed Friday noon as the body of a 22-year-old Navy deserter.

Coroner John B. Martin said the six-day investigation showed the body found in the fire to be that of Reece Eugene Gory, 22, of Rich Hill, Missouri.

Local records had the young man listed as 22-year-old Eugene J. Clinton, a farm laborer employed at Chapin for the past three months.

Coroner Martin said efforts to contact next of kin of the young man turned up no details.

Interviews with Chapin area residents who had some contact with the young man during his stay revealed several clues which were traced with the help of sheriff's deputies, state police, the Navy Department in Washington, D.C. and Chapin fire department officials.

Martin said dental records were obtained from the Navy which were used in confirming the identity of the young man shortly before noon Friday.

Martin said Gary's movements were traced from about 1 a.m. Sunday from the Bowling Center in Jacksonville to a taxi driver who took the young man home shortly before 2 a.m. Sunday.

The fire was reported to Jacksonville city police, who in turn, called Chapin Volunteers to the scene about 4:30 a.m. Sunday. Gary's body was recovered about daylight Sunday, burned beyond recognition. Coroner Martin said a dental record was the only possible means of identification.

The remains are at the Williamson Funeral Home. Arrangements for transfer to Rich Hill have not been completed. Martin said an inquest will be held later.

Coroner Martin said Navy records indicate the young man was declared AWOL from the U.S.S. Kittyhawk Sept. 3, 1970, and later declared a deserter Oct. 3, 1970. Gary had been sought by the FBI and military authorities since that time.

Martin said the youth's dental records are still aboard the Kittyhawk with the 6th Fleet but that duplicate records were obtained from Washington, D.C., Navy Department.

John Gillette Local Resident Dies Friday

John Gillette, 24 year old former local resident, died at 4:05 a.m. Friday at Norris hospital where he became a patient one week ago. Prior to that period he had been cared for at the Helene Nursing Home in this city.

He was born January 30, 1946 in Bainbridge Township, son of Aaron and Elvia Lang Gillette. He married Nellie Ann Knous March 30, 1910 at Rushville. She preceded him in death February 28, 1964.

He is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Evelyn Farrar of Beardstown; two granddaughters, Marilyn Jolly of Aurora, Ill., and Mrs. Rosanne Buck of Beardstown, and one great-granddaughter.

He also preceded in death by his parents, one brother, two sisters, and one grandson.

Funeral services will be held at the Cline Funeral Home Sunday at 2 p.m. with Rev. Lottie Morrow of Beardstown officiating. Burial will be in the Gillette cemetery in Schuyler County.

Friends may call at the Cline Funeral Home Saturday from 7:30 to 9 p.m.

IRS Director Hands Over Powell Records

CHICAGO (AP) — Jay G. Philpott, Internal Revenue Service director for the southern Illinois district, said Friday that he has turned over records of the late Paul Powell to a federal grand jury meeting in Chicago.

Philpott said he was subpoenaed Wednesday by the U.S. District Court for the northern district of Illinois and ordered to turn over records given to IRS agents by Mrs. Margaret Hensley, secretary to the late secretary of state.

Philpott also said he testified before the grand jury Thursday.

U.S. District Atty. William J. Bauer confirmed that a grand jury is in session but declined to comment on whether it was looking into the Powell case.

A Circuit Court judge ordered Mrs. Hensley last week to turn the Powell records in her possession over to authorities.

The court, in ordering the records handed over to the IRS, ruled in favor of a suit filed by Illinois Atty. Gen. William J. Scott. Scott claimed that the records were removed from Powell's Springfield office before his death was announced Oct. 11.

Scott said in the suit that the records might be a key to unlocking details of an $800,000 cash hoard discovered in Powell's hotel suite and office.

Bauer, said Friday that he was "in no position to confirm or deny the existence" of a subpoena ordering Philpott to produce records or to say whether the jury was investigating the Powell situation.

In addition to the money found in Powell's living quarters and Springfield office, $35,000 had been put into a safety-deposit box at the First State Bank of Springfield by Mrs. Hensley.

J. Waldo Ackerman, special state's attorney in the Powell investigation, said Mrs. Hensley deposited the money Oct. 23 but refused to tell where she got it. She claims the money as hers, Ackerman said, but he added that he assumes the money originally was Powell's.

Another $5,000 was uncovered by William Riedman, chancellor of Southern Illinois University's Edwardsville campus and executor of Powell's estate. Riedman found the money in a safe in Powell's Vienna family home.

Two Jail Terms Given Friday In Check Cases

Two jail terms were handed down by Judge John B. Wright Friday afternoon, both involving check cases.

Joyce Michaels, 27, of Route 3, Virginia entered a plea of guilty to deceptive practice and was ordered to spend 45 days at the Morgan county jail.

Patricia Willis, 20, of 523 West College was also facing a deceptive practice charge but was found in violation of probation. She was ordered to spend 30 days at the county jail.

Martin Hammers, Jr., 18, of 435 West Chambers entered a plea of guilty to illegal possession of liquor and was assessed a fine of $25 and $10 costs, a total of $70.

Bond was set for Raymond Van Jackson, 18, of 941 Allen Avenue in the amount of $5,000, and he was transferred from city to county jail. Jackson is charged with robbery.

Harry Hudson, Of Sinclair, Dies Friday

Harry E. Hudson, 54, a resident of the Sinclair community died unexpectedly early Friday evening.

The remains were taken to the Williamson Funeral Home where further obituary facts and arrangements are pending.

$25 BRINGS ALL MEMBERS TO ROODHOUSE CLUB

ROODHOUSE — The Wednesday night meeting of the local Rotary club held at the American Legion Home was unusual in comparison with recent meetings. A picture was taken of Bob Davis receiving a check for $25 to the Rotary club from the president, Rev. Bob Williams, to be sent to Rotary International. The gift was made in response to an offer made by the president who stated last week that the check would be presented to the club at the first meeting claiming 100 per cent attendance. The members readily responded.

The invocation preceding the supper served by Mrs. Mildred Dawdy and Mrs. Doris McEvers was given by Carl McAdams.

Upcoming Farmers' Night to be held in March was discussed and tentative plans made.

Al Adkins introduced Leroy Reeder from the United States Department of Agriculture and Soil Conservation Service in Carrollton. Mr. Reeder discussed the department's problems and the attempt to solve them. Student guests included Ricky Cox, Gene Vinyard, Bruce Beams from North Greene High School.

Franklin Youth Center Open House This Sunday

FRANKLIN — Open House and informal dedication will be held at the Franklin Area Youth Center here Sunday afternoon, Jan. 24th. All interested persons are cordially invited to call from 2 to 4 o'clock. The location is better known as the Shamrock, the building made available by Pat Kenny, Franklin business man, as a community center.

Some time back a committee of interested persons contacted the Jacksonville Area Youth Committee, controllers for the Minnie Barr estate, which provides funds for youth activities and projects. The committee allowed $5,000 for equipment and materials for a youth center in the Morgan county town.

This money provided for a hard surface for basketball, volleyball, tennis, shuffleboard and flooding in the winter for ice skating. Also playground equipment in an adjacent area. The Franklin town board agreed to maintain this equipment and build proper restrooms for the area.

Scouts use the ground floor at the Center for meetings and share restroom facilities. There is a lounge for adults planned on the main floor northwest room and also for young people. Youth activities will be in the lower level and the room on the west side of the building. There are representatives of 22 organizations working for completion and full operation

Clarence Belzer Dies Thursday; Funeral Sunday

Clarence F. (Babe) Belzer, 52, of 1310 South Clay avenue, died at 6:45 p.m. Thursday at Passavant hospital following an extended illness. He was a foreman plumber for Doyle Plumbing and Heating Co. in Jacksonville.

He was born in Jacksonville April 29, 1918, son of George E. and Jennie Lambert Belzer. He was married to Marcel June Wolke who survives with a son, Max Edward Belzer, Jacksonville. There are two granddaughters, Lorra Leigh and Michelle Suzanne Belzer. One sister, Mrs. Jeanette Kinnett of Alexander and a brother, James E. Belzer of Jacksonville, survive. There is an uncle, Clarence Lambert and an aunt, Bessie L. Clark, both of Wichita, Kansas, who also survive.

Mr. Belzer was a member of the Brooklyn United Methodist church; plumbers and steamfitters local of Springfield; IOOF No. 4; local Elks Club of which he was a trustee; the Moose Lodge and the Ambucs and local UCT council. The remains are at Gillham-Buchanan Funeral Home where the family will meet friends 7 to 9 p.m. Saturday.

Funeral services will be at 2 p.m. Sunday at the funeral home with Rev. John Lauer of Brooklyn Methodist and Rev. Dale Robb of First Presbyterian churches officiating. ## Sign Warrants On Teenagers Sheriff Harold E. Wright Friday morning signed warrants in the State's Attorney's office charging three teenagers with criminal damage to property.

Pete Hazlet, 18 of 1213 Grandview; Edward J. Kindred, 17, of 1008 West State; and Dale Robson, 17, of rural Franklin were named in warrants.

They were charged following an investigation into the vandalism of property near Woodson several days ago. Since that time, the three were linked with a series of incidents involving shooting out of lights, windows and damaging mail boxes throughout the country.

The three will appear in court at a later date.

Police Raid Gambling Operation In Waverly

State police arrested five area men and confiscated more than $2,000 in a raid on a gambling operation at the American Legion Home, located on the Waverly square, at about 9 p.m. Friday.

Also captured during the raid were two gambling tables, a marked dice table and blackjack table. The gambling devices were held at the Waverly City Hall.

The arrested men, brought to Morgan County Jail, were identified as: Carl O. Morris, of Divernon; Jack Morris, of Pawnee; Leon D. Morris of Auburn; Edward Morris of Divernon; and John A. Cooper of Virden.

All were charged with gambling and placed under $1,500 bond.

Officers said 47 other persons were in the Legion Home at the time of the raid but were released without charge.

Meredosia Man Gets 8-Year Prison Term

John D. Rasco of Meredosia was sentenced to eight years in federal prison Tuesday by U.S. District Judge Omer Poos for interstate transportation of forged securities.

Rasco had been on probation for the charge but Judge Poos, following the recommendations of the chief probation officer, revoked the probation and pronounced sentence.

Judge Poos ordered Rasco to serve at least the first 30 days of the sentence in the federal section of the Springfield city jail so he will be available to testify before the grand jury.

The grand jury will consider whether to indict Rasco on two warrants issued Tuesday morning.

The first warrant charges Rasco with scheming to obtain money on false pretenses and using the U.S. mails to make such transactions.

The second warrant charges him with conspiracy with certain bank officials to secure loans from banks insured by the FDIC.

The warrants are the result of testimony in a probation revocation hearing called on the petition of his probation officer Dec. 14.

At that time, the probation was recommended for revocation because Rasco admitted to FBI agents a "check-kiting" scheme.

This alleged scheme involved the writing of thousands of dollars in bad checks through Illinois and Oklahoma banks as well as payoffs to various bank officials to secure loans for Rasco's businesses.

Rasco operated the Meredosia

Harbor and Fleeting and River Road Marine Repair in Meredosia.

The Farmers and Traders State Bank of Meredosia lost about $170,000 and the Schuyler State Bank of Rushville about $120,000 through Rasco's dealings, it was alleged during the probation revocation hearing.

During the Dec. 14th hearing Rasco admitted to giving a $4,000 payoff to an official of the Schuyler State Bank in Rushville. He said he gave payoffs to a total of eight bank officials to obtain loans for his business.

No charges have been made against any bank officials but the investigation is continuing. After the warrants were presented Tuesday, Rasco waived his right to a preliminary hearing but did not waive his right to having a grand jury consider indictment on the charges.

Bond was set at $50,000 on each of the warrants and Rasco was remanded to city jail in Springfield.

Mother, Son Hurt Friday In Accident

Two persons were injured in a one-car accident on a country road about four miles east of Liberty at 2:15 p.m. Friday.

Taken to Passavant Hospital were the driver of the car, Mrs. Bonnie J. Wallace, 26, of rural Ashland, and her two-year old son Chadrick. The youth was treated for apparent minor injuries and released.

Mrs. Wallace was admitted to the hospital where her condition Friday evening was reportedly fair. Investigating sheriff's deputies said Mrs. Wallace was driving southbound when she swerved to avoid an oncoming car at the crest of a hill. She lost control of the car which ran up an embankment.

The late model car was heavily damaged, estimated at $1,000, and had to be towed from the scene.

Wilmer Waltrip Of Roodhouse Dies Friday

ROODHOUSE — Wilmer Roy Waltrip, 62 year old retired state highway employee of Roodhouse, died at 7:55 a.m. Friday at White Hall hospital where he had been a patient 11 days.

Mr. Waltrip was born at Wrights Nov. 12, 1908, son of Charley and Effie Stone Waltrip. He married Helen Reavis and she survives with two children, Edward of Roodhouse and Mrs. Judith Ehrick, Atlanta, Georgia.

These sisters and brothers survive, Mrs. Ellen Lee of Donaldson, Ill.; Mrs. Louis Smith, Moro, Ill.; Mrs. Ruth Mann, Elmer and James, all of Greenfield and Lewis Waltrip of White Hall.

The deceased was a member of the Roodhouse local of highway employees.

The remains are at the Wolfe Memorial Home where the family will meet friends 7 to 9 p.m. Saturday.

Funeral services will be at 2 p.m. Sunday at the funeral home with interment in Hickory Grove cemetery at Wrights.

AFSC HONOR FOR FINCH

Word has been received here that Major Charles E. Finch, USAF, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Finch of Jacksonville has received the Meritorious Service Medal from the Armed Forces Staff College (AFSC) at Norfolk, Virginia.

Major Finch distinguished himself as training officer and operations executive officer for the 89th Military Airlift Wing, Andrews AFB, in Maryland. He is presently a student at AFSC. Finch holds the aeronautical rating of senior pilot. He is a 1954 graduate of Jacksonville High School and has a bachelor of science degree in management from University of Illinois in the year 1959. He was commissioned at the University through the Air Force Reserve Officers training corps program. He is married to the former Patricia Arnold. They have a daughter, Patricia Ann. The family lives at Temple Hills, Maryland.

He is survived by several cousins.

The remains are at the Williamson Funeral Home where further obituary facts and arrangements are pending.

Scott Cautions On Exemption Revenue Losses

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — An Illinois attorney general's opinion Friday said that corporations are not "individuals" exempt from personal property amendment adopted Nov. 3.

And Maurice Scott, executive vice president of the Taxpayers' Federation of Illinois, estimated that local government losses in revenue from accumulated exemptions would total about $140 million.

The legislature has authorized $8 million to be allocated to local governments whose 1970 property valuations are lower than those for 1969.

Scott said Illinois officials should learn from experience to proceed cautiously and slowly with tax reform exemptions made possible under the Constitution adopted Dec. 15. Possible exemptions include removing drugs and food from sales taxes.

Scott said such sales tax exemptions if authorized July 1 would remove $50 million more in local government revenues and about $140 million from state government income.

Scott suggested a small tax commission of lawmakers and laymen should study how reforms might be started, after an interim for planning—and then on staggered effective dates.

For instance, exemptions on drugs might not be permitted until after July 1, 1972, and on food not until July 1, 1973 or later.

Such staggered delays would cushion effects and permit the thoughtful provision of replacement tax revenues, Scott said.

POLICE RECOVER MISSING WHEELS

Jacksonville city police charged Thomas W. Holmes, 20, of Route 1, Murrayville with the Jan. 12 burglary of Weems Garage, 1107 West Morton, Friday morning and released him on bond.

Holmes is reportedly the person who removed two tires and wheels from the garage on Jan. 12.

City police said they recovered the tires and wheels during the investigation.
